Allies Retreat All Along 75-Mile Front As Crisis Grows; MacArthur Says He Lacks Authority To Cope With Chinese Attackers

TOKYO — Wednesday — (AP) — Thousands of Chinese communist troops from a 200,000-man army yesterday poured through a breach in allied lines in Korea, threatening to trap retreating U. S. forces in the northwest.

—Korea— Unity Is Asked By Acheson

Atmosphere Grave As He Gives Crisis Report To Foreign Policy Leaders

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Secretary Acheson gave senate foreign policy leaders a report today on the crisis in Korea and pleaded for United backing of whatever measures the administration takes.

There was a grave atmosphere at the break-up of a two hour closed-door session of the senate foreign relations committee with the secretary of state. Some members said they regarded the present situation as tremendously threatening to American security.

Acheson himself would not talk with reporters but Chairman Connally (D-Tex) issued a statement which said:

"Situation Very Serious.
"He (Acheson) laid stress upon the vital importance of all Americans, regardless of party, uniting to support the necessary measures."

It was understood from other sources that Acheson had called the situation in the Far East very, very serious.

He was represented as being concerned with the broader aspects and implications of the situation and fearful that it might be preliminary to an outbreak in western Europe.

Congress May Remain.
The extremely serious view that congressional leaders were taking of the developments was apparent at every hand.

Even before Acheson's visit to the capitol, Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said congress might have to remain in session throughout Christmas to deal with the crisis. Taft heads the GOP senate policy committee.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told a reporter that plans for meeting the new Chinese communist threat in Korea are "nebulous."

"I don't believe any concrete decision has been made yet," Hickenlooper added.

PEACE OR WAR? ...

Communist China's tidal-wave counter offensive in Korea has drowned out Gen. MacArthur's "home by Christmas" words of last Friday ...

The short war may go on indefinitely.

MacArthur's communique said "If successful, the drive should 'end the war.' It obviously was based on the assumption that 'red China would send no new troops to the front."

STOCKS SKID

NEW YORK.—(INS)—The Korean military crisis touched off large-scale liquidation and sent stock down today.

The initial impact in the first hour depressed leaders 1 to more than 4 points with the tape running late in the fourth hour.

First hour volume soared to 980,000 shares as blocks up to 15,000 shares swamped the tape.

Extreme losses were recorded in high priced shares such as U. S. Gypsum and Nickel Plate, and active industrials were off more than 2 points.

The Dow Jones industrial average trailed more than 6 points at the close, the biggest loss since the Korean war started.

Prep Stars Honored By Sertomas

Traits Game Forms Cited By Glassford

Lincoln high school athletes were honored at the Lincoln Sertoma Club Tuesday noon.

J. William Glassford, football coach at the University of Nebraska, was the principle speaker.

He emphasized the importance of good conditioning and pointed to his Huskers lack of serious injury in the recently completed season.

"We had our bit in the mouth every Saturday," he said. "Our boys made every sacrifice necessary."

He listed leadership, learning to play by rules, co-operation, competitive spirit and fair play as traits developed by football.

Chairman Bob Mehning of the Sertoma Club presented the awards.

J. Vaulx Risser, club president, introduced honored guests and Rev. L. W. McMillin gave the invocation.

Honored guests included Roy Robertson, Wesleyan coach; Bobby Reynolds, University of Nebraska football All-American; and Wes Hultquist, Wesleyan star.

Boys Honored.
Boys who were honored were picked on a basis of football ability and scholarship. Two boys were chosen by votes of coaches of opposing teams for grid prowess, while a third griddier, trained in scholarship, was named by the school authorities. Medals were awarded to each of the boys.

Originally slated to be 12 boys—three from each of the city's high schools—the list swelled to 13 when two Northeast players—Jim Cederdahl and Jim Hertzell—were added for scholarship honors.

Top scholar-gridders from the other schools were:

Cathedral: John Gourlay; College View: Roger Hornby; Lincoln, Delbert Hunt.

Voted tops on the gridiron were Bill Debus and Don Scanlon of Lincoln, Durward VanCleave and Bill Story of College View, Jim Cederdahl and Paul Fredstrom of Northeast and John Steinauer and Bill Kryger of Cathedral.

The high commissioner said red China had hurled 200,000 troops against U. S. forces in Korea and is throwing more thousands across the border from the "privileged sanctuary" of Manchuria.

Field dispatches underscored the developing crisis. They said masses of night-fighting Chinese were pouring through a widening gap in the Eighth army's right flank.

This was in the Tokchon area where fierce communist assaults threw back three South Korean divisions as much as 20 miles.

Unending Stream.
Air observer reports said Chinese hordes were swarming like locusts "along every road, every gully and every ridge line" for 35 miles north of Tokchon.

Their goal obviously was to turn the line and cut off nine allied divisions, including the American 24th, second, 25th and First cavalry.

Other allied troops in north-central and northeast Korea faced fresh masses of Chinese reds.

14 Of Them Chinese Communist.
Twenty-one enemy divisions—8,000 to 10,000 men each—were reported officially identified in the 60-mile-wide strip between allied forces and the Manchurian border.

Other Chinese divisions were known to have crossed the border.

"This situation, repugnant as it may be, poses issues beyond the authority of the united nations military council—issues which must find their solution within the councils of the United Nations and the chancelleries of the world," MacArthur said.

State Unable Match Federal Funds Alloted

Lack $10,809,228 In Highway Money

By ARCH DONOVAN.
(Star Staff Writer.)

Announcement of the allocation to Nebraska of $6,486,420 by the federal government for matching with state funds to build new roads between July 1, 1951 and June 30, 1954, merely emphasizes that the state is not providing enough funds for federal matching, it was revealed at the state highway department Tuesday.

With the new money allocated there will be $9,396,741 available for matching next July. There is now available and not under agreement $5,910,321 of previously granted funds. This amount is for use on primary roads exclusively.

For secondary road building, there is now $6,756,375 not under agreement which with the new funds will make $9,191,561 available next July.

$2,720,926 Urban.
The urban fund now consists of $2,104,656 which will provide a total of $2,720,926 next July.

This will make a grand total of $21,309,228 of federal funds available to the state if matched between July 1 and June 30, 1954. The state department estimates that under the income to be received with repeal of the one cent gas tax the department will obtain $10,500,000 with which to match federal funds.

Income under the tax law to be effective Dec. 1 will just about be sufficient to match either the primary road allocation or the secondary road allocation.

Tax Insufficient.
Because in past years, income was insufficient to match all of the federal funds made available, the state still had obligated as of Monday $1,965,471 of the primary road funds for 1950. The allotment for 1951 is $3,944,850. The gas tax will be insufficient to match these funds.

Secondary road funds made available for 1950 and previous years but not obligated amounted to $6,756,375 for next year. But there is a condition attached by congress in new highway legislation.

New Department.
Six months after the adjournment of the next legislature, they must have provided an established a new department in the bureau of highways. It will be a department of secondary roads and must meet the specifications of the department of commerce to make these funds available to the state.

For the next year, 1951, there will be available to the state for primary and secondary roads without the added allocation announced Tuesday in Washington $12,666,697. To meet this matching the state will have approximately $700,000 obligated the first of the year and an expected $3,000,000 in new gas tax money.

A further allocation of funds probably can be expected from federal sources as only 80 per cent of the appropriation was divided. The other 20 per cent will be allocated when final census figures can be obtained.

Child Hit By Car At Milford "Not Out Of Danger"

Seven-year-old Jan Matzke, injured when struck by a car in front of her home in Milford about 6 p. m. Monday, was in "fairly good condition but not yet out of danger," her physician reported Tuesday afternoon.

The doctor said the child suffered a brain concussion and fractured skull. She was reported regaining consciousness at noon Tuesday, at Lincoln General where she is hospitalized.

Jane was hit when she walked behind a car that had taken her home from school and into the path of an oncoming car. She is the daughter of Wesley Matzke of Milford.

'Brooks Did Not Shoot Henderson' Cousin Of Defendant And Victim Testifies At Broken Bow Trial

BROKEN BOW, Feb. — (AP)—Fred Brooks "never shot the gun that killed Gerald Oliver Henderson of Scottsbluff the night of July 2," Ozzie Gray, a cousin of both the defendant and slain man, said Tuesday.

"I don't believe Fred Brooks ever shot that gun," Gray told the jury in Brooks' first degree murder trial. "I believe Boots (Gerald Oliver Henderson) shot himself."

Gray drove Henderson to the Merna roadside where he was slain July 2. Brooks, of Colby, Kas., is charged with first degree murder in Henderson's slaying.

Gray testified that Fred Brooks backed into the bumper of a car while Henderson was coming at him.

Hit Gun.
"Boots let his left hand drop toward his rear pocket and his right hand shot up and hit the gun," Gray said in telling of the events leading up to the shooting.

After Henderson was shot, Gray said Henderson took about "two steps" and sat down on the "shoulder" of the road and said "get me a doctor."

Ivan D. Evans, special prosecutor, attempted to impeach part of Gray's testimony by reading statements he allegedly took from Gray the morning after the shooting.

Gray declared, however, that he didn't remember making the statements. He said he was suffering from "shock" after the incident.

Gray and his wife, Phyllis, substantiated the statements given by Brooks Tuesday.

Ag College Grad Given High Honor

Lambert Top Block, Bridle Club Member

CHICAGO — Stanley Lambert, 1949 University of Nebraska college of agriculture graduate from Ewing, Neb., was selected Monday as the nation's outstanding Block and Bridle club member at the organization's annual convention here.

Lambert, 26, was selected from representatives from 28 Stanley Lambert states—from California to Florida. This makes the third year out of the past four that a Nebraskan has won the national honor. Willard Viesek of Ord won the award in 1947 and Ned Roun of Minden was selected in 1948. The club is an honorary organization of agricultural college students and former students.

The Ewing youth now is ranching in his own community after graduating "with high distinction" at the college of agriculture. Majoring in animal husbandry, he received the highest grade of his class and was on the honor roll during all of the four years he attended. His education was interrupted in 1943 by serving in the armed forces. Lambert was the recipient of a scholarship each year he attended the university.

Among his other accomplishments:

He was manager of the annual Junior Ak-Sar-Ben show in 1950. Was a member of the high team in sheep judging at the International Livestock Exposition in 1949 and at Denver show. Received the chapter merit plaque from members of the Nebraska Block and Bridle club. President of Farm House fraternity. President of Ag Y. M. C. A. Soloist in "The Messiah" given at the college of agriculture in 1949.

Lambert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lambert. The family is living on the home ranch which was homesteaded by the honoree's father in 1883.

Austin Calls On U.N. To Act

American Delegate, In One Of Most Critical Sessions Of Security Council, Speaks Directly To Representative From Communist China

Blunt Questions Put To Wu

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — The United States today charged the Chinese communists with open and notorious aggression in Korea. It declared the consequences were potentially grave and called upon the United Nations and the world to face the facts squarely.

In one of the most critical meetings in the history of the security council, Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin spoke directly to the representative of red China, Wu Hsi-chuan, who sat at the council table as an invited guest.

Austin shot a series of blunt questions at Wu. He asked: Does the Peiping representative still maintain that the 200,000 troops in Korea are entirely volunteers?

WU LISTENS INTENTLY.
"Will the representative tell the security council how long the Peiping regime has been planning and preparing for this aggression? Was all this being done while the Peiping regime was protesting the peaceful intentions of the Peiping regime?"

Wearing headphones, Wu listened intently, but took few notes. It was generally expected he would ignore Austin's question as well as the charges of aggression.

Austin called upon the council to act as "promptly as convenient" on a six-power resolution demanding the withdrawal of the Chinese communists from Korea. He added, however, that "we've been told the Soviet Union will vote against it and that will mean a veto."

It appeared from this remark the United States may be ready to go ahead despite the Soviet veto threat. This would throw the whole issue into the 60-nation general assembly under provisions of the recently approved Acheson plan for acting when the security council is stalemated by the veto.

Malik Delays Speech.
Russia's Jacob A. Malik delayed the U. S. speech for more than an hour while a capacity crowd listened tensely.

Malik tried in vain to get the council to give the floor to Wu first to present charges that the United States was guilty of aggression against Formosa. The council voted 8 to 1 against the Soviet move. India and Yugoslavia abstained.

The Soviet delegate then declared the council was hostile to red China and would not be capable of a fair discussion of the Chinese communist charges.

Austin revised his prepared speech at the last minute to include the charges of aggression. He referred to the grim war news from Korea and repeated Gen. MacArthur's declaration that more than 200,000 Chinese communist troops are now fighting U. N. forces in Korea.

Text Changed.
Austin's prepared text used the words "outright and naked aggression," but the former Vermont senator changed this in delivery to read "open and notorious."

He added: "The consequences of these facts must be faced squarely by the people of the world, and more particularly by this council. Because the consequences are potentially so grave I considered it essential to review the recent history of events in the Far East. This is particularly necessary in view of the presence here for the first time of a representative of the Peiping regime."

Austin said he had used the word "aggression" in his speech on the instructions of Washington. He charged the Peiping regime had persistently strengthened the hand of the North Korean communists by moral encouragement and military aid. Then he added:

"But these things were done covertly. Now the Peiping regime openly sends its own fighting units in large numbers across the border from Manchuria to join battle with the United Nations. These forces immediately attacked the United Nations forces. They were organized, equipped and supplied as fighting units. Their supply bases and reinforcement depots were protected by the Manchurian frontier—a frontier which the United Nations forces respected despite the serious disabilities which this practice laid upon their operations."

Reynolds Has Bud Stumped For Defense

... How's It Done?

By WHITNEY MARTIN. NEW YORK—(AP)—The final fall meeting of the Monday morning coaches' class opened with a bang. Somebody had put a firecracker under the old professor's chair.

Old Professor—All right, all right. I can take a joke. I realize that boys will be boys. Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma—And speaking of boys, professor, that Bobby Reynolds of Nebraska is the best boy I've seen in a long time. How are you going to defend against a back like him?

Bill Glassford, Nebraska—Oklahoma has a great football team, well-coached and with fine personnel. Our boys played well. They gave Oklahoma the best game they could. We fumbled the ball away a couple of times, which gave them two scoring opportunities.

Old Professor—Mr. Neyland, you look as smug as a canary that swallowed a cat.

Bob Neyland, Tennessee—I am very proud of my boys for doing so well against such a fine team as Kentucky. That was one of the hardest fought games I ever saw. Bear Bryant, Kentucky—And I'm just as proud of my boys as if they had won 60 to 0. They never gave up.

WANTS NO TIES.

Old Professor—Mr. Waldorf, what do you want for Christmas?

Lynn Waldorf, California—Not a tie. I'm never happy to settle for a tie. I wish we could have done it. Our kids feel down. But I don't think it's any disgrace to be tied by the Stanford team that was out there Saturday.

Marchie Schwartz, Stanford—I'm happy, but we wanted to win, and thought we had a good chance. California is a good team. We had a lot of new pass patterns which we had prepared for Army and couldn't use. They worked very well against California.

Old Professor—And you did passing fair, if I may say so. Mr. Voigts, what got into your team?

Bob Voigts, Northwestern—The boys just decided to go out and win themselves a ball game, professor. I'm sure glad Illinois didn't decide to pass until the final five minutes. We wanted them to run and they did. That Hagmann certainly stopped Don Stevens' end sweeps, didn't he?

Ray Eliot, Illinois—We may be charged with playing over-cautious football, like punting with only inches to go on the fourth down in the third period when we were deep in our own territory. The score was 7-7 then and I think we did right in not trying for it.

Old Professor—It's easy to second guess, isn't it? Well, gentlemen, I've enjoyed our little get-togethers this fall. Good day, and good luck.

Property Owners Cited

Three Lincoln property owners were cited by the city council Monday and told either to clean up their places or have them condemned by the city. The orders allowed 30 days for improvement of properties at 246 D street and 2110 South Thirty-seventh, and the third owner was allowed 120 days to take care of a property at 2536 North Sixty-second after he told the council he intended to build a new residence on the land.

Only Third Of Proclamations Make The Grade

Requests to have special days and special weeks proclaimed by the governor pour into the state executive's office. There they are sorted by Mrs. Marie Krumwiede, secretary to Gov. Val Peterson.

Only about one-third result in the request being granted and even then the proclamations average at least one a week. First, the governor has decreed that only requests from Nebraskans get consideration.

The usual Thanksgiving proclamation and other national holidays impose no problem. They are proclaimed. But cotton week, vegetable week, and many others go into the "heave-ho" folder. Requests come from foreign nations as well as all states and believe it or not some governors.

final paragraph after his personally signed communique No. 14 was first distributed. Military observers interpreted MacArthur's statement to mean the Chinese should be stopped by political pressure if possible or else MacArthur should be given authority to strike against the Chinese at their Manchurian bases.

Allied planes are under strict orders not to cross the Yalu river boundary in their attempts to bomb routes for the Chinese into Korea. But Soviet-built jet planes sweep across the border in attacks on allied planes and then go back without pursuit to their safe haven in Manchuria. Anti-aircraft fire from the Manchurian side of the border, which allied warplanes are barred from blasting, has thrown up an additional hazard.

Unlimited Manpower.

MacArthur called his senior field commanders back to Tokyo on one hour's notice. Almond is commander of the U. S. 10th corps fighting in northeast Korea. Walker commands the U. S. Eighth army in northwest Korea.

MacArthur said heavy Chinese reinforcements concentrated in Manchuria are "constantly moving forward." Allied intelligence has estimated that a half million troops are poised there within striking distance of Korea.

Behind them are the vast manpower resources of all China, a nation of nearly a half billion population. The crisis gravely underscored by MacArthur already was before the United Nations security council at Lake Success.

Latvian, Who Once Faced Firing Squad, Speaks Here

... 'Communism As Great Peril As Nazism'

Communists today are feverishly preparing for a world conquest, a noted European author and lecturer said here Tuesday. Dr. Karlis Leyasmeyer, native of Latvia who has spent his entire life in Europe except for the past 17 months, declared in an interview that the peril from communism is just as great as that from nazism.

Dr. Leyasmeyer brings with him to Lincoln an experience which few live to tell about.

In Latvia in 1941, Dr. Leyasmeyer was arrested by the communists for being counter-revolutionary, sentenced to die and put before a firing squad.

The communists had to have an admittance of guilt, however, before they could shoot him, Dr. Leyasmeyer said.

"Just before they were going to shoot," he related, "I prayed and had an experience of such wonderful courage that I could tell them fearlessly that I was innocent."

Because of this fearless repetition of his innocence, he said, the communists did not shoot him but instead took him to prison to torture him and make him admit his guilt.

But he said he did not admit his guilt and after a series of events a guard let him escape.

Dr. Leyasmeyer is in Lincoln on a speaking tour. He will give five lectures while here, the first of which was presented at a noon meeting Tuesday of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship at the University of Nebraska.

Failure In West. Western civilization has failed because it did not follow Christian principles, Dr. Leyasmeyer told the group.

Nations have tried to build a better world without better men, he said, and have failed. The only solution is to build a new world with new men, built upon Christianity, he declared. This, he said, is the only hope for the world today.

The main enemy of communism is the church because the church gives another higher authority, Dr. Leyasmeyer said. Communists say their ideology must be first and highest, he explained.

The communists have executed millions of Christians in the Soviet Union on the pretext that they are

Little Damage In Downtown Blaze

A crowd of noon-time shoppers were witnesses Tuesday noon as the fire department put out a small blaze which burned an awning at the Fitzsimons Floral and Gift shop at 1400 O street.

Firemen said the awning was set afire by a burning cigaret. The shop reported the awning was destroyed, but no other damage resulted from the blaze.

State Water Supplies Are Over Average

Ground Levels Higher Than 5-Year Average Geological Survey Says

Nebraska entered the snowy winter season with water supplies above average in lakes and rivers and in the ground over much of the state.

The reasons for this excess water is a combination of heavy rainfall, unusually cool summer, small amounts of pumping for irrigation and relatively light industrial uses, according to ground and surface water divisions of the United States geological survey at Lincoln.

The state's streams flowed through October at a sustained higher rate than the normal discharged, according to the survey, and ground water levels were higher than the average for the last five years.

A new record was set at Waterloo on the Elkhorn river for the fourth month in a row as the river flowed at 1,244 acre-feet per second at that point in October. The flow of the river was 319 per cent of the median at Waterloo.

The ground water levels in most observation wells in the state were above the 5-year average at the end of the water year. The water year ends Sept. 30.

July, August and September were unusually wet and cool, the survey pointed out, and although June was the driest since 1936, the end of the water year showed ground water levels higher than the average for the same period of the past five years.

Normally the water table reaches its highest stage in the spring and subsequently declines to a low in September or October, the report said, but this year a second peak was measured in July. The water table, normally found about 40 feet underground in the lower Platte valley for instance, remained high this summer as a result of numerous rains.

Out in Dundys county, observation wells showed levels higher than ever recorded since measurements of water levels were started there in the 30's.

Contrasting with that, however, are some areas of low water levels. In the Pumpkin creek area, Morrill and Banner counties, water levels have declined about 1.5 feet during the year, and in the Dutch Flats area of Sioux and Scotts Bluffs counties, water levels were down about a foot at the end of the water year.

The whole area in Southeastern Nebraska was shown by the geological survey to have near record stream flows during the year. Stream flow was said to be 220 per cent of normal in the area. There is plenty of water in most places, such as Lake McConaughy, which contained 1,690,000 acre-feet of water at the end of October. The lake is expected to be filled to its 1,948,000 acre-foot capacity by May.

Estimate OK'd On Water Equipment

The city council Monday approved the estimate of the city engineer of $2,600 for furnishing 50 six-inch diameter valves for use of the water department.

Forty hydrants for use of the water department at an estimated cost of $6,000 was also approved.

Plans, specifications and estimate of cost of $3,750 were also approved for water district No. 244, Mohawk, Forty-second to Forty-fourth and B to Mohawk.

A revised estimate of $3,500 together with the plans and specifications were approved for sewer district No. 459, O street from Fifty-second to Fifty-fifth. The bid of Geo. L. Vlasnik on the district Wednesday, $3,409, was above the original estimate and had to be rejected and new plans filed.

Nine completed sewer districts and one water district were formally accepted by the council Monday.

The following bids, received Wednesday, were accepted by the council: Poles, Inc., Spokane, Wash., one carload of poles, $2,162.50. U. S. Pipe and Foundry Co., Kansas City, Mo., cast iron pipe, $10,282.36. Fred W. Kleager, graveling district 89, Madison avenue from Thirty-third to Forty-first, $2,269. Graveling district 90, Sixty-second street from Leighton to Huntington and Walver from Sixty-second to Sixty-third, $2,373.50. Abel Construction company, paving district 1129, Thirty-seventh street from Calvert to Sheridan boulevard, $8,526.30.

Rupert Renamed As Y.M. Council Head

Bob Rupert was re-elected president of the city Y.M.C.A.'s Young Adult Council, Monday night and three new members-at-large were elected to the group.

The new members are: Daryl Bell, Fred Little, and Bernie Reynolds. Held over were Bob Peters and Rupert.

Bell was elected vice-president; Little, secretary; and Allan Larson, treasurer.

Bell and Irvin Yohn were selected as representatives to the area conference to be held in Lincoln next April. Five states will send 150 delegates.

Youth Injured In Car-Bike Crash

Thirteen-year-old Loren Grieser of 3430 Franklin received a broken right thigh about 3:41 p. m. Monday when his bike collided with a car at Memorial drive and South street.

Police said Mrs. G. M. Severson, of 815 Elmwood, had stopped for the stop sign and proceeded south when the accident occurred. The boy was headed east along the South street sidewalk and had just started to cross the intersection.

Lincoln General hospital authorities said Loren was resting well early Tuesday morning.

Driver Is Hurt In Car-Train Crash

John Neal, 56, of 1146 Emerson, was cut under his left eye about 7:29 p. m. Monday when his car hit a freight train on Seventeenth between Holdrege and Court streets. He was treated at St. Elizabeth hospital and released.

Police said the Neal car was headed north on Seventeenth when it hit a coal car four cars from the Chicago and North Western switch engine. F. L. Ammons, Missouri Valley, Ia., was the engineer on the train.

He said a brakeman had signalled at the intersection while the train started across.

The Lincoln Photoengravers' local No. 102 Monday night nominated officers to serve next year. The election will be held Dec. 18.

Nominated were Bob Dunwoody and Wayne Titzell for president; Vern Duemey and Vern Madden for vice president; Carl Getmann and Richard Haar for secretary-treasurer; Harold Raymer and Bill DeVriendt for sergeant-at-arms.

The local's president, Glenn DeVriendt, presided over the meeting at the Y.M.C.A.

Women Create Amazing New Lotion

By PENNY MERRILL

What do women want in a lotion? This was the question asked by a leading New York cosmetic manufacturer when he set out to develop a new hand lotion.

"It was far from simple," he told us. "We found that women wanted—and needed—much more than they were getting from hand lotions. So we set about developing a lotion built to women's specifications. And after months of research—a sensation was born. A more effective lotion that smooths, soothes, softens and perfumes the skin—and does it quickly. A lotion that is creamier, but lighter and instantly absorbed. A lotion that is absolutely non-sticky, non-greasy.

"To arrive at the unique combination of ingredients that resulted in this superb lotion, we used our laboratories in both France and America. We asked women to test one lotion after another. Finally we got the answer. We selected the best of the fine flower and vegetable oils the countries of the world had to offer...blended them into a rich yet light emulsion fragrant with the unforgettable Quelques Fleurs perfume. And American women love it!"

That is the story of Quelques Fleurs Hand Lotion by Houbigant (pronounced Kelka Flur)... the unique lotion that combines a sensational beauty treatment for the skin with a world-famous perfume. Try it for three days—use it on hands, elbows, knees, all over—and see how it helps your skin!

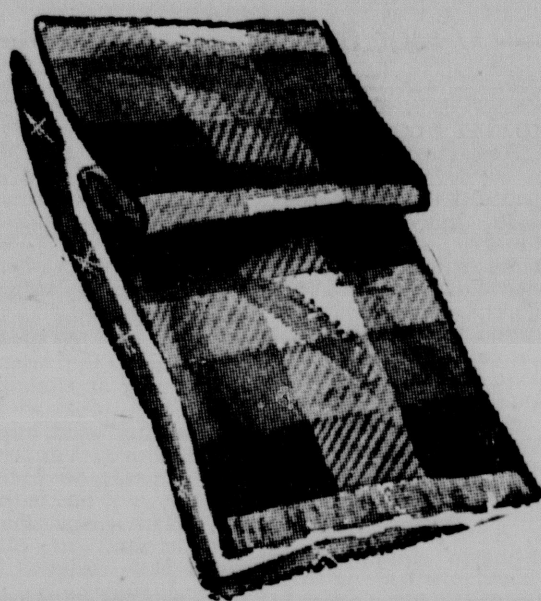

Available Now. You will find this unusually effective new lotion at better stores. In delicate pastel tints of pink, blue or cream, it costs only $1.00 (plus tax).

Nobody's Business

"The heaviest tax the American people are having to pay is that of inflation," says a contemporary. "It isn't called a tax but that doesn't change the net result which is a drain on the resources of every family in the land." And that is only half of it. The hope of action to halt inflation continues to recede. Mr. Truman, so we are told, was waiting until the November congressional elections before taking action upon the crazy quilt legislation congress gave him. But Mr. Truman hasn't acted and in stubborn spirit may do nothing about it. In fairness to the president, he does have a real gripe. Congress side-stepped controls, left it up to the chief executive in the charming attitude of putting him in a hole. The outlook in the 82nd congress, which starts shortly after the new year, on the issue of inflation curbs is even more dreary. Its leadership is down on the line, and cannot be expected to budge an inch. Between Capitol Hill and the other end of Pennsylvania avenue, it is a case of nobody's business.

Farm And Home Week

The Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce has distinguished itself in its activities by so many worthwhile civic contributions. It adds another star to its crown as a wide-awake, farsighted organization in its support of "Farm and Home Week" which opens Wednesday at the College of Agriculture of the University of Nebraska, with three days chuck-full to the brim with discussions and demonstrations of interest to farm people. The Jaycees reached down into their pockets to contribute financial support, tangible evidence of the organization's interest in improved rural life in Nebraska.

Thumbs Down On Bowls

The decision of the athletic authorities at the University of Nebraska announced by Director "Potsy" Clark that the Huskers are not interested in any bowl game which will provide a trip, 60 minutes in the publicity sun, and possibly a chunk of dough, is encouraging. The bowl business is becoming a problem. The older, well-established bowl games enjoyed a deserved popularity. But

MacArthur's "Stupidity"

The news from Korea Tuesday was bad, black as night.

The same commander of the United Nations forces in the field who permitted a spokesman last week to quote him to the effect that he hoped to have the boys home for Christmas, in a personally signed special communique put it up to the United Nations and its member governments that "we face an entirely new war" with 200,000 Chinese communist troops massed in North Korea and strong reinforcements poised in Manchuria.

These are MacArthur's bleak words:
"This situation, repugnant as it may be, poses issues beyond the authority of the United Nations military command—issues which must find their solution within the councils of the United Nations and the chancelleries of the world."

There is a great deal of respect in this country for General MacArthur's soldierly qualities, and properly so. He has served the United States with great devotion and ability in a military role. A London newspaper, noting with sinking heart last week MacArthur's statement that American troops would go home by Christmas, branded it as one of the great "stupidities of history." That is water over the dam—what MacArthur said a few days ago cannot be unsaid—and what concerns us Tuesday is, where do we go from here?

A delegation representing communist China was on its way to New York City for the specific purpose of charging the United States with aggression in Formosa. Formosa has been the apple of General MacArthur's eye. It, he has insisted, is essential to America's position in the Far East. It also is the sanctuary of Chiang Kai-shek's refugee nationalist government. Within the last 72 hours, in defiance of the United Nations, brushing aside Mr. Truman's expressed view, thumbing its nose at the American state department, Chiang's troops quartered upon Formosa initiated an attack upon the Chinese communists. Now General MacArthur informs us that we face an entirely new war.

There has been another equally disturbing development. The western world is not united upon Far Eastern or Asiatic policy, as it should be. Newsweek Magazine, in a current issue, reported that the United States is threatened with a "headlong collision with its chief allies." The British commonwealth countries, Newsweek says, profess to believe that we are heading into full-scale war; that the British regard American foreign policy as irresponsible. In every direction that the eye turns, there is mounting evidence to establish that too many people with no special qualification to discuss affairs in the orient are their success was contagious until the bowl idea began to pop up in every section of the country. The schools which exercise a policy of careful discrimination are on sound ground.

Some Of Our Neighbors

In those states where legislatures will convene in January, the same theme song is being sung, generally off key. What to use for money?

A great many Nebraskans have the notion that the going is pretty rugged here. They do not know how lucky they are. Out on the west coast, Oregon's leaders have acquired two new headaches. At the present time, the state is spending an approximate 150 million dollars every 12 months. (Nebraska's appropriations for the biennium, including fees, license moneys, a huge chunk of federal revenue, was only an approximate five million dollars greater.) But Oregon now faces the necessity of raising just short of 200 million dollars a year, quite a load for a state of comparatively small population.

It is the same story, varying only slightly in detail and degree, the country over. The costs of state government in all of the 48 commonwealths, without a single exception, have risen spectacularly since 1946. We cannot blame Washington for that, take out our wrath on the federal bureaucrats, because state government is ours, something that we have in our own hands, something which we say is the symbol of our sovereignty.

There isn't anything mysterious about these rising costs. They started back in 1946. Actually the sovereign state never enjoyed a more lush period than during the war years. Its activities, and incidentally its responsibilities, were curtailed enormously. It could not build roads unless they fitted into the plan of national defense. During those years, the highways received a minimum of attention, with new construction virtually nil, and with maintenance held to the minimum. Part of the story of rising costs of state government can be uncovered in the curtailed activities of five years of war, which bequeathed to each state a lot of work that was postponed during the period of national emergency. And the rest of it is explained by rising labor and material costs, higher salary and wage requirements, and finally, continuing demands for new services.

An Infallible Prophet

There have been a lot of explanations about the weather which has descended on the eastern portions of the country, but the fact remains that the weather prophets were beaten to the draw on their predictions by a fisherman from Waukegan, Ill.

Mathon Kyritsis not only knew that extreme cold weather was going to hit northern Illinois, but he has predicted that the area surrounding Chicago is in for a long spell of snow. He bases his prognostications not on the complicated instruments of meteorology, but on the habits of a fish, the perch.

Perch usually swim at a depth of 60 to 90 feet, according to Kyritsis. In the severe winter of 1936, they were caught at about 120 feet. During the last two weeks, the fisherman gravely pointed out, more than 175,000 pounds of perch have been caught at depths of 210 to 240 feet.

The perch, it appears, knows enough to go down to get out of the cold.

Saving The Coal

Still another triumph of man over nature has been recorded in our neighboring states of Colorado and Wyoming, where millions of tons of coal have been saved by smothering long-burning underground coal fires. Highly skilled crews have drilled holes in fire areas, removed the topsoil, replaced it with non-burning material which chokes out the fire. According to estimates, the saving means that there will be one more ton of coal available to nearly every family in the United States.

talking loosely. As a result, we are reaping what we have been sowing.

The Christian Science Monitor last Friday published a challenging article written from Manila by Vera Michels Dean, who, The Monitor says, as research director of the Foreign Policy association, is in a position of authority to speak on Far Eastern affairs. These are her opening words:

"Is the United States in a position to take the leadership of the revolution that is sweeping Asia, or will the trend to the right manifested by American public opinion cause Washington to stake the nation's manpower and material resources on an all-out attempt to support any government or group, no matter how reactionary, provided it undertakes to oppose Russia and communism? The principal difficulty American policy-makers face in Asia is that past United States actions, rightly or wrongly, have convinced Asian peoples that no matter how much we may talk about democracy, in actuality, we are by conviction or by interest on the side of those elements both western and Asian that oppose fundamental changes in that undeveloped region. If we are to make headway at all in Asia, if we are to gain Asian peoples we shall have to convince them beyond the shadow of a doubt that our practices will match our professions of faith."

We have been shying away from the unwelcome facts. It has not troubled us a great deal whether the governments in Asiatic countries opposed to communism were acceptable to the peoples over whom they rule, whether in the judgment of the governed, those governments were incompetent or corrupt, whether they possessed stability, whether they enjoyed the confidence of their own people. Their opposition to communism was sufficient to justify support.

China's Chiang is an example. He emerged from the war with Japan a national hero. Whether the ten-year struggle which bled China was beyond any individual's capacity is beside the point. But these people who talk about support for Chiang overlook the fact that during the war and after, the United States contributed more than three billion dollars in weapons and financial aid to the nationalist government which Chiang headed. What did he do with it? If that was not adequate to stem the mounting tide of communism in China, what would have turned the trick?

It is not clear even at this time what is meant by the phrase of "a re-examination of American foreign policy." But the time has come to re-examine Far Eastern policy. What is our answer to the huge masses of an aroused continent seeking better government, and better conditions for its hundreds of millions, moving now as it is in a direction that threatens us?

WASHINGTON—Judging from conversation heard in Capitol Hill cloakrooms, the current session of congress may approach the post-World War I days of Woodrow Wilson when it comes to dis-sension over foreign policy.

It will be recalled that in the November, 1918, elections, Wilson lost control of his house of representatives and from that time one opposition to his foreign policies increased, resulting finally in the defeat of the League of Nations and the Versailles treaty. Many leaders of both parties felt that this injection of politics into foreign policy paralyzed the nation and paved the way for World War II.

On Capitol Hill today leaders point to certain similarities between what happened then and what may happen today.

In November, 1918, for instance, the United States was winning in Europe. The armistice was signed on Nov. 11, just a few days after the election, but Wilson lost anyway. In November, 1950, the United States was likewise on the eve of victory in Korea. Yet Truman, though keeping a scant margin in congress, for all practical purposes lost workable control of the senate.

And the main issue contributing to Truman's setback was the attack led by Senator McCarthy on the state department and its Chinese policy.

This is certain to lead to the

SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS MAY BE A FUTILE SIDE SHOW

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON.—For the next three weeks the 81st congress will meet in a windup session. The tasks before this expiring congress are formidable and of the first importance.

They relate directly to the security and the welfare of the nation. While the 81st congress has been in session, emphasis as well as variety, here are some of the urgent items on the congressional work sheet:

1.—Taxes. Quick action to raise tax levels would help to check the rising spiral of inflation. The administration wants an excess profits tax of 75 per cent of profits above those for a normal earning period. Strong opposition has come from business, with the republicans pressing a substitute which would raise the regular corporation tax.

2.—Statehood for Hawaii and Alaska. After exhaustive hearings, committees of both house and senate approved resolutions which would make these two territories states and the house has taken favorable action. If the senate now fails to call up the statehood bills, all this work will be for nothing and the whole process must be started anew, giving another opportunity to the few obstructionists who are concerned only with their own selfish interests. Defense officials have repeatedly said that statehood is essential if Hawaii and Alaska are to be provided with adequate defense.

3.—Aid to Yugoslavia. Drouth, over-emphasis on industrialization and other factors have produced a crisis that could give Russia an opportunity to strike down Marshal Tito's anti-communism regime. This regime is the chief object lesson to the world that communism does not necessarily mean subservience to Russian imperialism. It is an example that has shaken the allegiance of communists everywhere. In America's own practical self-interest, this example should be helped to survive with minimum assistance to feed the hungry.

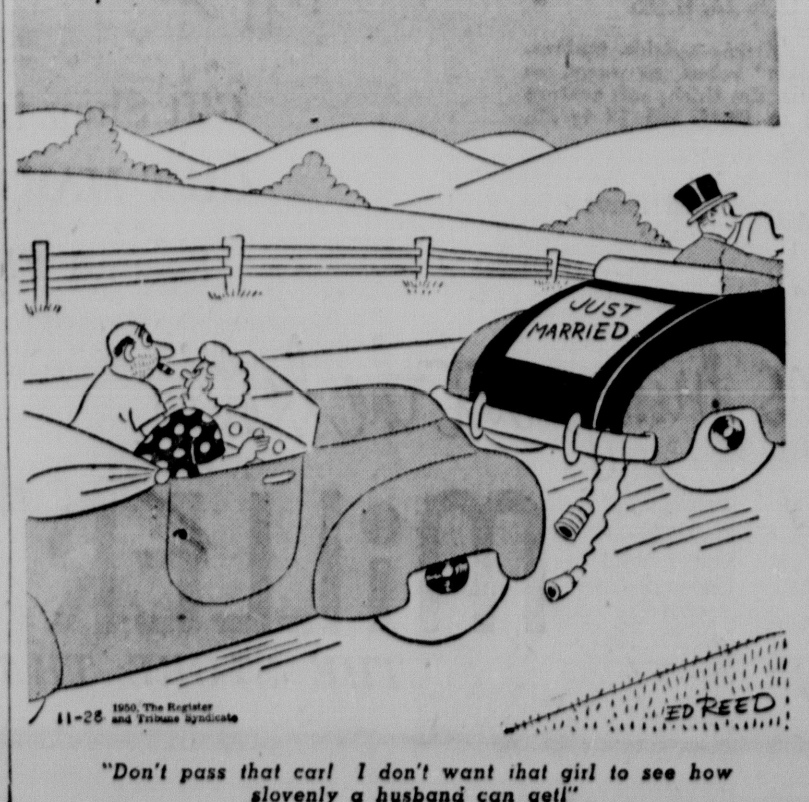

4.—Aid to southeast Asia. Almost ignored in the Gordon Gray report were recommendations for a program of new investment and technical assistance to underdeveloped countries. The need is conspicuous in southeast Asia, where the appeal of communism against the background of ancient poverty is a pressing danger. Obviously, the brief session could not

In the good old days in the not-so-distant past, a lame duck session was just a way of passing the time and it didn't matter too much. But these are not the good old days and it does matter terribly. following situations in the senate:
ISOLATIONIST BLOC GROWS
—Senator McCarthy has now proved that his formula of isolation pays political dividends. McCarthy made more than 30 speeches in key states, which means that the little group of republican isolationists not only have a vigorous spokesman, but a demonstration that their tactics pay. This isolationist group includes: Malone of Nevada, Wherry of Nebraska, Jenner of Indiana, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Ecton of Montana, Watkins of Utah, Bricker of Ohio, Brewster of Maine, Cain of Washington, Dworshak of Idaho. In addition, certain mid-road republicans, such as Flanders of Vermont, hitherto shunning the isolationists, are now leaning their way. Senator Taft's big victory in Ohio also puts him more firmly in this camp. In the past, Taft did not really believe McCarthy's wild charges against the state department, but was willing to go along for political reasons. Now the two are likely to co-operate closely.

REPUBLICAN LIBERAL BLOC

—Diametrically opposed to the isolationists is another group of GOP senators, such as Tobey of New Hampshire, Ives of New York, Mrs. Smith of Maine, Lodge of Massachusetts, Hendrickson of New Jersey. With them usually, though not such vigorous scrappers, are Smith of New Jersey, Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Thye of Minnesota. The only far westerner among them is Morse of Oregon, whom the McCarthyites are expected to approve appropriations for this purpose. But the first steps should be taken as a sign of American interest in the more or less neglected part of the world.

5.—The McCarran-Ferguson-Nixon anti-communist law. Quite apart from the basic intent of the act, some changes are urgently needed. The arbitrary provisions of the law are working to create innumerable individual tragedies by barring persons who, as children, may have had pro forma membership in fascist organizations. It is also making the United States look pretty ridiculous in the eyes of the rest of the world. Sponsors of the law have accused the department of justice of trying to discredit it by being overzealous in its enforcement. But these same critics would be the first to fail to wrath on the department if any instance of lack of zeal came to light.

This list could be greatly extended. Some will feel that it leaves out items of business of greater importance than those that have been included, such as the extension of rent control which expires Dec. 31.

But the very listing of these measures must seem a kind of exercise in futility. The cynics are saying, and they are probably right, that this three-week session will be nothing more than a side show to what the appetite for the big circus that begins on January when the 82nd congress convenes. It will ballyhoo the pageant of the taking over power by republicans and southern democrats.

The shadow of that coalition will dominate the present session. Defeated members returning as lame ducks show little interest in what may or may not be accomplished in this expiring congress. Grumbling in private, they tend to put the blame for what happened on the president or Secretary of State Acheson.

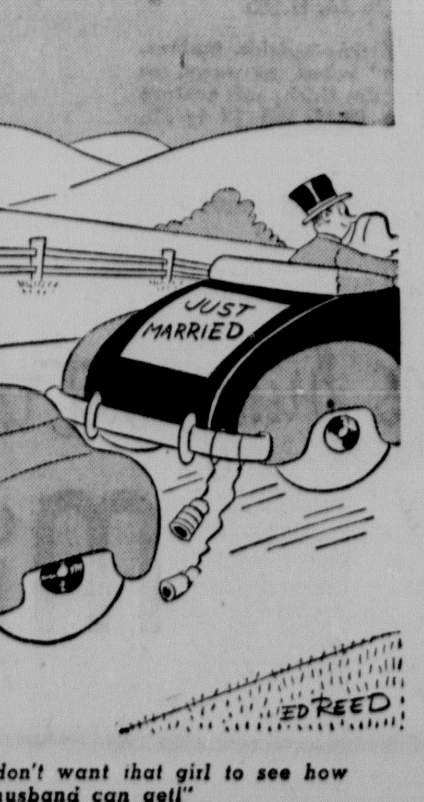

So we shall hear a lot about communism in government and in the state department, in particular. We will hear a great deal more about nationalist China and more help for Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa. A great many pages in the congressional record will be taken up with demands for Acheson's resignation. Economy will be a word frequently used, but nothing much will be done about economy.

In the good old days in the not-so-distant past, a lame duck session was just a way of passing the time and it didn't matter too much. But these are not the good old days and it does matter terribly. Just a little show of unity and responsibility and constructive action would be such a heartening sign.

want to bar from the senate foreign relations committee. In a different way, this group corresponds to the bloc of southern democrats who frequently vote against the Truman administration.

THE ABSENT SENATOR

The man who did most to keep foreign policy on an even keel is now absent from the senate—Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. Once an isolationist, he saw the dangers of repeating what happened after World War I. Vandenberg is ill, and, contrary to expectation, he probably will not be back in January. Had a republican governor been elected in Michigan, he would have resigned before now. Unfortunately he can never be active in the senate again.

Vandenberg's absence leaves a hole which may be expensive in terms of future peace. The man Vandenberg had hoped might fill his shoes, Foster Lodge of Massachusetts, an A-1 senator, but young, Senate jealousy being what it is, many republicans won't follow Lodge. The alternative is for Truman to exercise more diligence in conferring with top GOP leaders, or to appoint a republican secretary of state. Actually Truman has appointed republicans to many of our highest foreign posts — Warren Austin as chief of the U. N. delegation, Walter Gifford as ambassador to London, John Foster Dulles as Acheson chief adviser, Senator Lodge as a delegate to the United Nations, ex-Senator Cooper of Kentucky as another U. N. delegate. However, the McCarthy isolationist bloc remains insatiable.

DID MCCARTHY REALLY WIN?

Not many senators have seen the breakdown yet, but election figures sent from Wisconsin raise doubt as to whether McCarthyism really pays. Unquestionably it paid in certain states, but where they know him best, did it? That is the question raised by certain Wisconsin returns. . . . For wherever McCarthy campaigned in Wisconsin, the republicans usually lost votes—despite the national trend in their favor. . . . For instance, Milwaukee county was carried by the democratic candidate for governor in 1948 by 20,000. After McCarthy campaigned in the county in 1950, the democratic governor's majority was 24,000. . . . One of McCarthy's first and biggest campaign meetings was at Kenosha. In 1948 Kenosha went democratic by 1,546. But after McCarthy's campaigning, and despite the republican trend, it went democratic by 3,224. . . . The democrats lost Eau Claire county in 1948 by 3,265 votes. But after McCarthy campaigned in 1950, the democrats won by 242. . . . One of McCarthy's biggest rallies was in La Crosse county which went republican in 1948 by 2,302 votes. This year the democrats carried it by 270 votes. . . . Almost wherever McCarthy spoke in the state that knows him best, the democrats gained. Maybe the rest of the nation will wake up to him later. (Distributed by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

THANK YOU.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The undersigned, as general presiding chairman of the Nebraska Public Health conference and as recently appointed president of the newly developed Nebraska Public Health association, wishes to express appreciation, personally and for the organization, for the fine coverage given our sessions Nov. 20-21.

This indeed was a new venture and experiment for Nebraska and we were encouraged by the evident state-wide interest in community health problems as evidenced by over 250 Nebraska registrants from various public health professions—medical officers, nurses, sanitarians, laboratory personnel, veterinarians and many other societies, official and voluntary agencies interested in health, as well as a wide distribution from the state of individual community residents.

Proper attention to personal health and adequate protection around general community health seem to be least appreciated commodities of life and often the most neglected. The recent excellent professional conferences, lay and professional group working conferences tend to dispel further concern as to the further prospects as to future improved protective health service programs.

Your reporters, Jim Coufal, Charles Moore and others, and your publication presenting coverage of the sessions have rendered a distinct public service in the interest of state-wide understanding of modern public health efforts and procedure.

ROLAND H. LODER,
Director of Health.

AGAINST UNFAIR SYSTEM

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: All directly taxable property should be treated alike in taxation and the basis should be the same on all property that is subject to taxation through the medium of a levy, whether city, county, or state. In Lincoln, the basis of taxation is inconsistent with uniform practices—in fact, the city goes so far out of line as to assess some homes as much as 400 per cent more than the assessed value as fixed and determined by long, enduring statutory requirements. Thus within this city, the principle of equity in taxation, as laid down by law and tradition, is destroyed by deliberately maintaining a duplicate set of city assessments on homes, homesites and other real estate. Just what, may I ask, have the owners of homes, homesites and other realty done that would justify their being thus discriminated against? The increase caused by duplicate values, in the aggregate, produces a fictitious excess real estate value each year that reaches as high as 15 million dollars. This, to my notion, imposes not only the penalty, but also the cost and inconvenience of such procedure.

The ever increasing burden of taxation and the fast rising cost of government is getting to be a sober matter, far too serious to waste the hard earned money of Lincoln taxpayers in an unnecessary and time-saving duplication of real estate assessed values. In my opinion, the city council should waste no time in casting this unfair system overboard.

Three-Fourths Corn Harvesting In State Completed

Operations Slowed By Cold Days

Wheat Condition Remains Bright; Moisture Needed

Seventy-five per cent of Nebraska's corn harvesting was completed by the end of last week, slowed by stormy weather. Up to this time last year 90 per cent had been harvested, the state-federal division of agricultural statistics reported Tuesday.

Reports of soft corn, with some too wet to crib, came from Holt, Knox, Pierce, Greeley and Kearney counties, the weekly crop weather report stated.

From the west came reports of unsatisfactory potato prices.

Kimball county reported $1 per 100 pounds for No. 1 potatoes and 45 cents for No. 2. Scotts Bluff county reported a few spuds beginning to move with offers of 50 cents per hundred pounds of bin run potatoes.

A total of 2,158 cars had been shipped up to Nov. 24, compared with 2,041 last year.

Top Soil Dry. The condition of wheat is still reported high but more moisture would improve the outlook. The top soil is dry. Top growth is generally ample for protection and the root growth is very good.

Pasture and winter range are reported plentiful and moisture of the past week has softened the range somewhat. Feed grains, hay, forage, are also reported ample.

Latest reports indicate slightly more cattle and sheep on feed than a year ago.

Yields of grain sorghum are high with Red Willow county reporting some yields up to 70 bushels per acre and Clay some of 50 bushels.

Another Oil Test Slated Near Sidney

On Leon Fine Land; Olds Co. In Charge

SIDNEY, Neb.—(AP)—The Olds Drilling company is rigging up for another wildcat oil test northwest of here on land owned by Leon Fine and others of Sidney.

The Baxter Drilling company owns the lease and has contracted with Olds to drill the test, known as the Fine No. 1. There is no oil production in the immediate area of the Fine No. 1.

At the Dorman No. 8 test, two miles northwest of Sidney, drill stem tests of the first Dakota sandstone are under way. Indications point to the addition of another producer on the prolific Dorman lease.

The initial test Sunday at the top of the first Dakota bench recovered 100 feet of fluid, including green oil and oil cut drilling mud.

K. K. Knapp, supervisor of activities on the Dorman lease, said the first test was made in a "tight sand" and did not yield the anticipated fluid recovery.

Knapp reported that storage tanks at the Dorman lease were being cleaned out, and a general program of work was under way to condition the equipment for winter-time operations.

When the Dorman No. 8 is completed, Knapp said drilling would terminate on the lease for the balance of the winter.

Meanwhile, the Ohio Oil company has moved a drilling rig back to the east Gurley field, after several weeks of inactivity there, and will deepen the unsuccessful Stevens No. 1 test.

Through the deepening process to the so called third Dakota Bench, Ohio hopes to make the well a producer. A neighboring well on Ohio's Knievel lease is producing from the third Dakota bench.

Ohio's return to east Gurley, where the Mary Egging No. 1 discovery set off the feverish exploration program now under way, is regarded by industry observers as highly significant because of the deeper sands contemplated. The Mary Egging came in in the first Dakota sand.

There were these other developments at oil test sites in western Nebraska:

The Miracle-Pier Drilling company reported Monday that the Naves No. 1, across the line in Morrill county, was drilling at 2,356 feet. The test is being made by the Rock Hill and Twin Oil companies.

The Olds-Foy No. 1 northwest of Dalton in Cheyenne county is waiting on cable tools for additional testing.

Frontier Refining Co. of Denver has plugged its J. D. Seimera No. 1 test in Cheyenne county after a Dakota and Lakota sands test.

The Feldman-Ellsner No. 1 test a mile northwest of Sidney is awaiting cable tools. The rotary rig was damaged in a fire last Monday.

Drilling was continuing at the State-Lovercheck No. 1, a Stanolind test, in Banner county. No oil or gas showings have been reported.

The E. J. Everton No. 1 test in Kimball county was being plugged back to higher zones Monday for additional logging and possible test of sands where gas and oil showings were reported.

Drill stem tests at the State No. 1, where Ohio has obtained both gas and oil recovery in the Dakotas, produced nothing but water.

Ohio's Mother No. 2 on the so called Huntsman High structure near Sidney is being completed for oil production. A spokesman said pumping equipment would be installed at once.

Temperatures early Tuesday morning were mostly between 10 and 20 in the Missouri and Upper Mississippi valleys but in the 30s and 40s in the eastern portions of the Rocky Mountain States.

Chambers Of Commerce

MORRILL, Neb.—(AP)—Herbert F. Thies, managing editor of The Scottsbluff Star-Herald, today headed the associated chambers of commerce of the North Platte valley.

Thies and other officers were elected at a meeting here Monday night. Principal speaker was C. V. Price of Lincoln, chief of the division of Nebraska resources.

Other officers include Fred M. Purnell of Gering, vice president; Gene Haylett of Scottsbluff, secretary, and Ray Wisner of Bayard, treasurer.

The frugal, down-to-earth attitude of Nebraska laborers is a strong selling point to attract industry to the state, Price told the gathering.

Willing To Work. "Nebraska workers are willing to work and believe in the value of the dollar," he declared. "Industry leaders are impressed by the fact that the state capitol was paid for the day it was completed."

Price said the Korean war had accelerated decentralization of industry not only as a war measure, but as an economic need. He pointed out that smaller industries cannot compete with payroll demands of larger ones in population centers.

The Lincoln man said the job of his division was to "crash the industrial consciousness" of eastern manufacturers. "If the number of Nebraskans in industry could be raised from 28.8 per thousand to 33, the state's payroll would be boosted by $13,000,000, he declared.

Counting Of Pre-Schoolers On Schedule

... P.T.A. Reports

Enumeration of pre-school children by the future enrollment survey, conducted by volunteer workers of the Parent-Teacher association, is proceeding on schedule, a report to the Lincoln board of education revealed Tuesday.

Residence cards in the elementary school offices have been brought up-to-date on new houses erected through Nov. 7, 1950. Information has also been secured from homes represented in public and parochial, elementary and secondary schools.

The workers are preparing blanks for all other family units in the city and Huskerville. Local P.T.A. units have been "well organized," by their officers with the assistance of elementary principals, the report stated.

On the basis of several thousand blanks received by the workers to date it is expected that the peak load of new kindergarten pupils will reach the schools as predicted. There will be a "heavy increase" next September, with the "peak" the following year, after which a "reasonably rapid decrease" can be expected each year, the report explained.

Board Sells Chairs. The board of education also agreed to sell additional kindergarten chairs to the Southwest Community Center. The equipment was made necessary because of increased attendance at the center.

Authorization was given by the board for the purchases of seating and room equipment for four new rooms at Randolph school. The purchase will be made from J. W.

Maxcy of Lincoln in the amount of $3,851.50 for room equipment, and $3,742.50 for seating equipment.

The board also recommended that $179.70 be remitted to the Lincoln Symphony association. This amount represents the total proceeds from a concert played for secondary school pupils on Nov. 14.

The population of Buenos Aires, Argentina, is 3,000,371.

Snowbound East Tries To Dig Out

Death Toll Reaches 278. Storm Damage Mounts To Astronomical Figure

(By the Associated Press)
Storm-swept eastern states, reeling from devastating blows from weather's elements, struggled today to get business and production back to normal.

The herculean job was being waged by thousands. They fought to clear areas of snow from the week-end storm which struck with paralyzing fury over wide parts of 22 eastern states.

The death toll from the winds, blizzards and cold mounted, with 278 fatalities in the storm-stricken region. Damage to property mounted to astronomical figures—estimated in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Misery And Hardship.
There was much human misery and great hardship. Thousands of homes remained without heat; others were without electricity and telephones. Communities were isolated. Schools remained closed in many snowbound areas.

The weather bureau had a mild note of cheer. The intense storm, it reported, was almost stationary in the vicinity of Lake Huron and was dying—very slowly. Some light snow fell over parts of the Middle Atlantic states and around the Great Lakes area.

Parallel Parking On Q St. Given Council's Approval

A resolution providing for parallel parking on Q street between Ninth and Fourteenth streets was pushed through the city council for three readings Monday.

The quick action was deemed necessary in view of the heavy traffic now being sent down Q while P street is being widened.

Councilman Roy Sheaff made the only objection and cast the only dissenting vote against the resolution. He pointed out that P street repairs have already cut the available parking space in the city and that he felt the parking change on Q street would cut out more needed space.

Accident Increase.

Police Chief Joe Carroll supported the parallel parking resolution from another point of view. He reminded the council that since diagonal parking went into effect over one year ago the accidents on Q street between Ninth and Fourteenth have increased 52 per cent.

The rules were dispensed with also on an ordinance passed on three readings for the vacation of an alley running from Fourth to Fifth streets between J and K streets.

The alley occupies a part of the land on which the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad intends to build a $175,000 to $200,000 warehouse. Quick action was requested on the matter so the railroad could beat the weather and government controls in getting started.

Connection Fee.

The same pattern, three readings and final approval, was followed on an ordinance setting up connection fees for water service to patrons outside the city limits.

The connection fees range from $125 to $500 according to the size of the connection to water mains. An ordinance on the same matter but with the minimum fee of $100 was before the council four weeks ago but was held up for the rate revision.

Action was also speeded up as

75 New Members For Business Bureau

The Lincoln Better Business bureau reports that with reports still incomplete in its membership drive, about 75 new members are already listed.

Bureau President Harold A. Schimm said the added membership would help strengthen the service of the bureau to the public.

About 60 businessmen aided in the drive, which was headed by Richard M. Gerber, Co-chairmen for the drive were Jay Seacrest and Howard Burnett.

The council heard on first and second reading a resolution for a change in zoning from residence A to local business property on the west side of Forty-eighth and P streets.

The usual council procedure is to hold one reading each week and to vote for approval or disapproval of the issue on the third reading.

City To Vacate H Street, 21st To Capitol Ave.

The vacation of H street between Twenty-first street and Capitol avenue was approved by the city council Monday in a resolution passed on third reading.

Residents in the area on Capitol avenue had filed an objection to the proposed vacation on the grounds that a serious drainage problem would result since Capitol is not paved.

The issue was cleared up for the council Monday when St. Mary's Cathedral, the party seeking the vacation, filed a petition for paving of Capitol as property owners along one side of the street.

Also approved on third reading, Councilman John Comstock dissenting, was a resolution granting to the Lincoln Development company the right to construct and maintain an overhead passageway across the alley between the new parking building at Thirtieth and M streets and the Sharp building.

The re-zoning of property at 5700 O street from residence A to local business was also approved by the council on third reading.

Passed on first reading was an ordinance re-zoning Thirty-ninth street between Cleveland and Adams streets from residence B to industrial A.

The council referred to the zoning board of appeals the application of T. D. Lovelock, 810 South Twelfth, for a change in the zoning classification from residence A to residence C of property at 2300 South Thirtieth street.

Referred to City Engineer D. L. Erickson was the request of Marion Griswold for the vacation of the alley between Dudley and Orchard streets from Forty-second to Forty-third streets.

New Mexico's ancient capital city, Santa Fe, is situated at an altitude of over 7,000 feet.

Pastor Urges "Discipline" Of Mind, Body

The Rev. A. W. Laphorne of Kearney Monday night urged a homecoming banquet at Elm Park Methodist church to develop an "athletic spirit" towards Christianity.

Athletes, he explained, work hardest for discipline of body and mind. In this complex world we must take the same attitude towards religion, he told the gathering of 150.

Three Fields.

Rev. Laphorne listed three fields in which this discipline should be applied:

1. People must work to simplify their lives. It has become necessary to drop many activities in order to accomplish important Christian work.

2. We must develop more concern for other people. They must be reached for Christ and the church, he said.

3. And we must live so our lives will be good examples of the Christian work.

Rev. Laphorne is pastor of the First Methodist church in Kearney. He was introduced by Elm Park's pastor, Rev. Carl G. Bader.

The banquet was part of a week-long homecoming program.

Three former ministers of the church were at the banquet and letters of congratulation from two others were read by Rev. Bader.

Some 3,000 specimens of the art are on display at a loop hotel.

Rudolph Boysen Dead

ANAHEIM, Calif. — (AP) — Funeral services were to be held today for Rudolph Boysen, 55, the man who developed the boysenberry. He died Saturday.

Born in Le Grand, Calif., Boysen came here 25 years ago to commercialize his hybrid berry with his friend, Walter Knott, who then operated a small wayside stand near here.

Subsequently Knott's berry farm, featuring boysenberry products and chicken dinners, became a full-blown industry and one of the top southern California tourist attractions.

Germany Able To Supply Only Half Own Food Supply

Germany gets half or less than half of the food it needs through agriculture on its own land, W. H. Brokaw told the U. S. department of Agriculture Club Monday.

The retired director of the agriculture extension department of the University of Nebraska, spoke at the Y.W.C.A. in describing agriculture in the Wurttemberg-Baden sector of Germany.

Brokaw illustrated his talk with slides while he explained the areas he visited last year on a military grant from the government to make a survey of agricultural conditions in Germany.

He said the Germans are still using very primitive methods of farming, mostly because the land is divided into narrow strips. Little machinery is used, he said, and most grain is cut with a hand sickle. But, he added, they do a good job of farming on small areas.

Brokaw also investigated the possibilities of extension work in Germany and also the organization of 4-H young peoples' work. Some groups of this nature have been set up, he said, and pointed out that this was one of the best methods for improving their agriculture.

War Or Peace Up To China

M'Arthur Statement Based On Belief Reds Would Not Throw In More Manpower

New Developments Indicate Korea-Manchuria Frontier Can Be Closed Only "Diplomatically"

By RELMAN MORIN.
TOKYO—Tuesday—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur's words "home by Christmas," spoken last Friday in Korea, have been drowned out by the roar of a tidal-wave Chinese counter offensive.

Unless the Chinese break as suddenly as they struck—a wholly unlikely possibility—the general's statement cannot be fulfilled.

On the contrary, the Chinese appear prepared to commit more and more divisions from the inexhaustible reservoir of a subcontinent.

The short war seems likely to last indefinitely.

For the record these were the circumstances of MacArthur's statement:

He flew to northwest Korea last Friday morning to supervise the kickoff of a grand offensive. His special communique issued at 10 o'clock that morning said "if successful" the drive should "for all practical purposes end the war."

Talked With Generals.
He went by jeep from Sinanju airfield to First corps headquarters. From there he drove across country to Ninth corps.

MacArthur and Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the Eighth army, went into a wooden building where Maj. Gen. John B. Coulter, commander of the corps, was waiting.

A huge war map blazing with blue and red squares, circles and arrows and other symbols covered the whole wall of the room. The blue represented Ninth corps units and positions. The red denoted the communists.

MacArthur said to Coulter: "just tell me what you are doing now." Coulter quickly sketched deployment of his troops and their movements. MacArthur obviously had a complete knowledge of the smallest details. He asked some remarks together with the considered sentence in his communique—"if successful this should for all practical purposes end the war"—it would appear that MacArthur was convinced as of last Friday that the big drive would force a complete and final decision.

The offensive moved out. It was on or ahead of schedule for about 60 hours. Sunday night the Chinese hit back. By Monday field dispatches reported the drive was stalled.

What happened?

Red Manpower Is Huge.

It is already apparent that the Chinese moved powerful new forces into the battle area so that they have complete numerical superiority.

Just how many more divisions have been committed is not yet clear.

The reds can bring in new forces at will despite American command of the air.

It is only 60 miles from Antung, Manchuria, to the fighting front, a distance easily covered in the long winter darkness of one night.

The manpower pool is there in Manchuria to draw on. It is estimated by American intelligence at amounting to about half a million men.

Traditionally the numerical ratio of strength necessary to mount and push an offensive is two and one-half to one. In the last war there were generals who did not like to move without a superiority of 10 or 15 to one.

The United Nations had no such superiority last Friday.

Counting the now almost forgotten North Koreans, they were slightly inferior to the total red force. But this was counter balanced by complete command of the air and superiority in tanks, artillery and heavy weapons.

The mountain terrain, of course aided the reds.

MacArthur and his commanders were aware of all these factors in the equation. Nevertheless, they expected to reach the Yalu this month.

Puzzling Withdrawal.

MacArthur apparently had been convinced the Chinese would not throw in still more manpower. Their actions between the time when they halted the first headlong rush toward the river in late October and the moment when the allied offensive started were purely defensive.

They avoided contact and pulled back mysteriously into the mountain from ground they had previously won at very heavy cost of men.

Nor is it yet clear what they intend to do.

Gigantic Chinese forces are in battle now. More probably are on the way. If having halted the United Nations offensive, they continue pressing their own, the issue will become wholly clear.

That means war with China on a full scale.

In short, the situation now is much closer to a political showdown than it was a week ago.

Very few observers in Tokyo consider it possible that unadmitted war, like the Spanish civil war, can drag on for years with both sides looking the other way.

From a purely military point of view, MacArthur's estimate of the situation before the start of the offensive probably was correct.

Intelligence had accurately assessed the strength of the enemy confronting the Eighth army. It could not determine whether Peiping was prepared to go further with the big gamble, or how many

School Patrol Gets OK From P.T.A. Group

P. T. A. approval of the proposed Lincoln School Safety Corps, organized along lines submitted previously to the board of education, was announced Tuesday morning at the meeting of the board.

Approval came at a special meeting of the P. T. A. safety committee to consider the provisions for the corps submitted by elementary principals and teachers. Dr. Steven N. Watkins, superintendent of schools, stated following the board meeting that official approval of the board will not be given until the proposal has been submitted to the Lincoln police department for examination and criticism.

An outline for the suggested safety corps was presented to the board of education at its last meeting on Nov. 14. Basically, it set up standards for equipment and insignia of patrol members in the corps. It also listed suggested hours of patrol duty and the conditions under which patrol members would work.

Carson Urges Liquor Sale To Finance Roads

"Drinkers" as well as "users" will continue the Nebraska highway building program unless the plans of Sen. Hugh Carson meet the same fate as similar bills at past sessions.

The Ord senator would put the state into the wholesale liquor business and use the profits to build roads. But, he will insist that a companion bill also be passed by the legislature.

The companion bill will provide for a state highway commission and division of the present highway and irrigation departments.

Sen. Carson expects chief opposition to his liquor bill to develop in Omaha. He has plans for that too.

Growing Support.

"I am seriously considering inroduction of a constitutional amendment to abolish pari-mutual betting," he said. "I find growing support for such a proposal. Why should one type of gambling be legalized while all others are banned?"

Sen. Carson said he planned a trip to Wyoming immediately to study the wholesale plan in effect in that state and determine any weaknesses they have found by experience. We have the chance to avoid those weaknesses, by a little study, Carson said.

The Ord senator said there was no difference in thinking between himself and Sen. Arthur Carmody of Trenton, who also announced that he would introduce a reorganization plan for the highway department.

'Get Together.'

"We will be able to get together on the principal features," he explained.

Sen. Carson was high in his praise of State Engineer Fred Klietsch but said he was handicapped in road building, "at which he excels," by reason of having to attempt public relations work and undergo political pressure. He

Council Fails Act On Liquor Policy Charges

The city council Monday failed to act on a resolution before it rescinding an ordinance which provides that the council shall not show any preference in granting a liquor license to an individual selected by a licensee selling his business.

The present ordinance calls for the licensee selling out to surrender his license to the council and the council to grant it again to whoever they pick. The policy, however, has been to give the license to the one picked by the licensee.

At a recent informal meeting the council voted 4 to 3 for repeal of the ordinance. Later at a council meeting the vote was changed to a 4 to 3 against repeal of the ordinance. The opinion now is that a third vote will bring repeal. Mrs. Orme, absent from the Monday afternoon session, requested that action on the measure be held up at that time.

Bill Drafter John Wilson is now drafting a bill similar to the one Carson introduced last year, the senator said. However, he expects to make a number of changes before it is introduced as additional information is obtained in other states.

Hugo Windolph Of Grand Island Dies; A Retired Printer

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—Hugo Windolph, retired mechanical superintendent of The Daily Independent, died Tuesday after a stroke. He was 63 years old.

A native of Grand Island, Windolph was a printer on the old German-language Anzeiger-Herold before his employment by the Independent in 1929. He became superintendent in 1949, and retired last summer. He had been secretary of the International Typographical Union in Grand Island since it was formed in 1937.

School Superintendent Who Paddled Lad, 15, Acquitted

QUINCY, Wash.—(AP)—A school superintendent who warned the bristles of a high school sophomore with an 18-inch paddle was found innocent of third degree assault by a Justice court jury last night.

The six-man jury deliberated only five minutes before it returned its verdict in the case against Supt. Russell M. Estvelt.

This little eastern Washington town was hotly divided over the paddling incident. Five teachers who made up the bulk of the faculty at the combined grade and high school had threatened to resign unless Estvelt was acquitted.

Estvelt admitted on the witness stand he had "whacked" 15-year-old Gerald Bergstrom eight times with the 18-inch paddle "for refusing to give up a cap pistol and cursing me in the presence of kindergarten and grade school pupils."

The slight, red-haired, freckle-faced boy testified he would not hand over the cap gun, but said he did not cursing until after the superintendent "twisted my arm behind me and hurt me."

The complaint against Estvelt

Honesty Wins Suspension
BAKERSFIELD, Calif.—(AP)—The judge suspended hunter Pete Olivetti's 90-day jail sentence for shooting an illegal spike buck "in view of your honesty."

Olivetti turned himself in to game wardens and pleaded guilty. His excuse: "The deer turned its head in such a way that the spikes formed a fork. I thought it was a legal animal."

Village In Path Of Lava

Evacuation Readied
As Worst Eruption In
40 Years Continues

CATANIA, Sicily—(AP)—A molten finger of lava, spewed up by Mt. Etna's worst eruption in 40 years, snaked its way toward the hamlet of Milo today while scores of trucks stood ready to evacuate the 600 villagers.

The smoldering stream was reported moving at 130 feet an hour toward the little village on the volcano's northeast slope, shriveling trees and vegetation in its path.

The creeping lava-head measured 5,000 feet across and 17 feet high as it roared from 37 fiery holes in Etna's side. Half way down the mountain it split into smaller streams of molten rock. Part headed toward Milo and neighboring Renazzo. Another flow moving at only 29 feet an hour, coursed down the valley of the Ox.

Vital Kept.
The decision whether to evacuate towns in the lava's path will be made by authorities from Rome and the Volcanic Institute of Catania, who are keeping an on-the-spot vigil.

Sicilian peasant women continued to visit a little crossroads church barely a mile from the advancing lava stream to pray that their homes might be spared. New explosions in the form of the volcano last night—so violent they could be heard in this city 20 miles away—sent the lava flowing out with new force. Clouds of smoke and steam through which flashes of fire could be seen continued to billow out of Etna. The 10,741-foot-high peak came to life again Saturday night in the latest of more than 80 eruptions on record.

Living Cost Index Will Hit All-Time High

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The latest cost-of-living index, to be announced tomorrow, is expected to hit an all-time high.

It may increase by two or three cents the hourly pay rate for almost 1,000,000 workers covered by union contracts tied to the price barometer.

The index is computed monthly by the bureau of labor statistics. The new one will reflect the cost of things people were buying six weeks ago.

Lawyers Not Writing Enough Of Today's Laws, Bar Told

Lawyers aren't writing enough of today's laws. Too many of them are being written by diplomats, economists, sociologists, educators and accountants, the president of the Nebraska Bar association said Monday night.

While lawyers watched open-mouthed, common law, the wisdom and experience of centuries, is often ignored for the flash of some amateur's bright idea.

Clarence A. Davis of Lincoln gave his opinion to a meeting of some 100 members of the Lincoln Bar association.

'Balance Wheel.'
He suggested that "the lawyers of America must be the balance wheel. They and the judges must supply the foresight that will preserve our liberties but deny the license to destroy the bill of rights." Methods to improve the administration of speedy and impartial justice, was the first of three points Davis asked the lawyers to consider seriously.

Often courts have been too slow, full of red tape, and expensive. Thus, dozens of state and federal administrative tribunals have sprung up.

Create Delays.
Political caprice may create delays far worse than any possible in courts; red tape has actually multiplied a thousand times; and in many cases the rights of citizens to due process of the law has been seriously imperiled, Davis pointed out.

The necessity of a redefinition of the Bill of Rights was Davis's second topic.

"Some people are determined to assert their supposed rights to the point of absurdity, while the vast majority feel like making short shrift of the disturbers—constitution or no," he said.

Problem Cited.
"Our problem is how to draft and enforce a law that will punish conspiracy against the government but preserve some semblance of intellectual freedom."

Davis's third topic was the complicated legal tangle that may result if international treaties re-supply the United Nations are applied to state and national problems.

He pointed to a recent case in California where a state law against Orientals holding property contradicted a treaty the United States had with the United Nations against racial discrimination.

Davis was introduced by Robert Van Pelt, president of the Lincoln Bar association, who also presided over the regular monthly meeting at the Cornhusker hotel.

Past Presidents.
Introduced at the meeting were members of the Lincoln group who have served as state association presidents. They included Robert W. DeVoe, Judge Frederick Shepherd, Clinton J. Campbell and Judge E. B. Chappell.

During the afternoon a taxation clinic was held, with Laurens Williams, Omaha, chairman of the N.S.B.A.'s committee on taxation speaking on the topic, "Taxation for the General Practitioner."

New amendments of the social security law were discussed by Attorney Robert Perry and Joseph Sewell, Lincoln social security director, while Attorney Thomas Davies explained federal income taxation of estates.

The clinic was in charge of William Hastings, association vice president.

Oil Transport Mishap Fatal To Nebraskan ... Pinned Under Truck

TOPEKA, Kas.—(AP)—An oil transport truck rolled over 11 miles north of here early Monday, claiming the life of James A. Deiters of Falls City, Neb., who was pinned beneath the flaming wreckage.

State troopers said the fatally injured man was riding in a loaded transport driven by Floyd I. Magee of Chester, Neb.

Magee told the patrol he was unable to get the truck around a curve on highway US-75. The big truck left the road knocking down a telephone pole and came to rest with its wheels in the air.

Deiters had driven the truck to Topeka, Magee told officers.

Man Killed At Rail Crossing ... In Central City

CENTRAL CITY, Neb.—(AP)—A 70-year-old pedestrian was killed at a Central City railroad crossing.

R. Stanley Torpin, Merrick county attorney, said the dead man was E. T. Stratton who was struck by a Union Pacific train two blocks east of the Central City passenger station.

SPRY AND MIGHTY POWER PLANT
with a proud pedigree

HERE you behold the up-to-the-minute version of a high-compression engine that has taught a whole industry something about fuel efficiency.

Fact is, Buick pioneered the deep-breathing valve-in-head engine 47 years ago—and thus blazed a trail that aircraft engines—and more recently automobile engines—have followed.

But don't let that ancient lineage fool you.

Today's Buick engine is not simply a valve-in-head. It's a Fireball—which means that it uses fuel-saving, power-peaking principles that are found in no other motorcar on America's highways.

"This is all very well," you say, "but what does it do for me?"

Mister, that's what we'd like to show you.

Come settle yourself at the graceful Buick wheel. Gently press the handy gas treadle—and feel this spry and mighty motor come to life.

Then head for the open road, and discover what a whale of a lot of fun it can be to have Fireballs under your hood.

Better come in soon, and get acquainted with the engine—and the automobile—that have won more than 200,000 owners of other cars to 1950 Buicks.

FOOD FOR EUROPE—Residents of the Panama area are shown readying corn for use by C.R.O.P. to aid needy Europeans. Instrumental in the drive to raise the corn were (left to right, holding shovels) Rev. Panama Area Corn Shelled For C.R.O.P.
One hundred farmers in the vicinity of Panama toiled for the needy of Europe Monday. They shelled about 500 bushels of corn which will go for European relief under the Christian Rural Overseas program. And just before the farmers bent their backs to the task, they got a timely word from Rev. Ira J. Hesselink of Holland Reformed church. Christ advised feeding the hungry and clothing the naked, he pointed out. Rev. Hesselink spoke for Rev. Gerrit Rezelman of Adams, representing Pella Reformed church, district chairman for the C.R.O.P. Rev. Rezelman was present but unable to speak because of a throat ailment. Sheller Contributed. The shelling took place on the Ted Bauma farm. Bauma also used his wagon to collect corn from several other farms, and also contributed the use of his sheller. The Panama precinct will donate about $1,000 to C.R.O.P. this year, said Gus "Bud" Vandercook of Panama, precinct chairman of C.R.O.P. The response is the best since C.R.O.P. collection began in 1947, comparing the precinct's $1,000 donation to the county's total in 1949 of $3,000. Aiding Vandercook in soliciting donations were Dick Waldron, Marion Steward, Martin Languis, A. L. Kroese, Benn Obbink, Ted Bauma, Corneille Van Deweje, Mrs. Henrietta Mulder and Mrs. Florence Languis. Begins At Home SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—(AP)—Do you seek inspiration for your art in far places? Brazda Unaware Of Fraud, Says Lawyer Outlining Case OMAHA—(AP)—W. S. (Chili) Brazda's attorney has indicated he will attempt to show that Brazda didn't know there was anything fraudulent in his financial dealings with Warren (Bud) Scherer. Brazda, a former Fremont insurance and loan company operator, went on trial in Federal court here Monday. He is charged on 11 counts with conspiracy, using the mails to defraud and introducing fraudulent securities into interstate commerce. Scherer Awaits Sentence. Scherer is a Pilger, Neb., implement dealer. Both he and Brazda were indicted by a federal grand jury. Last week, Scherer pleaded no defense on three of the counts. He is waiting sentencing. Seven women and five men are sitting on the jury which is trying Brazda. They heard opening statements Monday from Defense Attorney Emmet Murphy and Assistant U. S. District Attorney John E. Deming for the prosecution. Deming said the charges involve financial dealings between Brazda and Scherer as far back as 1946. The indictments charge negotiations involving mortgages and notes on nonexistent implements, autos, trucks and tractors. The loss to the First Bancredit corporation of St. Paul, Minn., as a result of the alleged operations of the two men was set at about half a million dollars by Attorney Cornelius F. Connolly. Connolly is representing Lloyds, London insurance underwriters, at the trial. Says Indorsements Forged. Deming listed several instances when, he said, indorsements were forged or fictitious names were used. He alleged one instance in February, 1948, when several of Scherer's employees, "using their middle names of fictitious names," executed some retail loans after a telephoned request from Brazda. In another instance in the same month, he said, Brazda was at Pilger when a Scherer employee signed a blank note and turned it over to Brazda. Murphy told the jury most of the witnesses against Brazda will be persons who for some reason were not indicted. At the time of the alleged deals, Murphy said, Scherer was one of the foremost implement dealers in the state. Cities Public Auction. "When farm implements were scarce, he held a public auction at Pilger and sold $200,000 worth of major equipment out in the open. He owned a couple of big farms and a big car. There was no reason for Mr. Brazda to suspect Mr. Scherer was not a sound operator." Murphy declared no statements ever were made by Scherer to his employees in Brazda's presence that indicated they were signing fictitious names to financial papers. "The First Bancredit corporation of St. Paul is a national financial agency," said the defense attorney. "It had agents in this territory continuously. It saw nothing unusual in the Scherer operations, either." "When for some reason Brother Scherer found himself without money and told the Bancredit corporation his story, it sent a man to Fremont to take over Mr. Brazda's office. He sold all Mr. Brazda's good paper and left him penniless."

Calling North Pole

1950 By RAY A. LA JOIE

MRS. SANTA CLAUS arose from the holly-decorated table and started washing her dishes. She called in Dando, one of Santa's dwarf helpers.

"Oh, Dando, what shall we do? Santa has gone off to bed in one of his awful tempers, and you know what that means. Dear me, he hasn't had one in 50 years. Dando, are Prancer and Dancer and Dunder and Blitzen in the barn?"

"Yes, ma'am!"

"Is the sleigh packed full of gifts?"

"Yes, ma'am!"

Dando stood by the edge of the door ready to go out suddenly, for Mrs. Santa's high peaked cap was shaking in a threatening and alarming way. He knew what that meant, so he gave his answers in a meek and trembling voice.

Marly had hidden himself under the divan, just showing the tip of his black tail, and Persia was hidden under a rocking chair, just her nose peeking out. Yak-Yak had flown to the top of a higher grandfather's clock in the corner and was talking in his softest voice, "Take care, take care!"

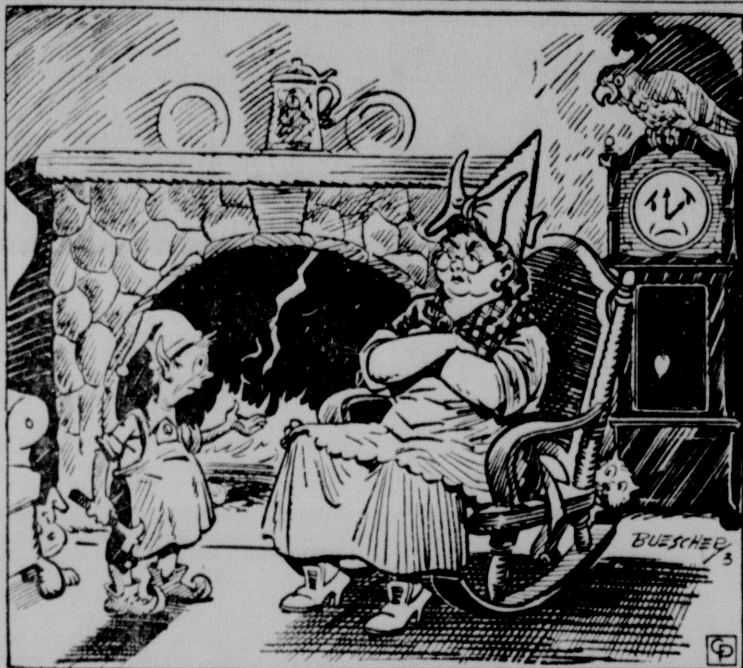

"Top knot's up! Top knot's up!"

Brrr-rr-ring! jingled the telephone. Mrs. Santa Claus' cap fairly danced on the top of her head with excitement, and she looked around with such an expression that Marly's tail and Persia's nose disappeared entirely, and Yak-Yak shut his eyes and made believe he was asleep.

Mrs. Santa put the phone to her ear with a jerk, and waited impatiently for the message.

"She heard a sweet pleading voice speak, 'Dear Santa Claus: I am a little crippled girl, living in the poor section of our town. The grocery man said I might telephone from his store.'

"My mother is sick. Do you ever come to poor little girls' houses? If you would only bring my mamma a new warm blanket, and a cup of hot tea with milk and sugar in it! You needn't bring anything for me. My name is Betty Good."

Mrs. Santa Claus stood perfectly still. The tail cap fell to one side slowly slipped off her head and dropped quietly to the floor. She gently took down her thinking cap and put it on.

"Dando," she spoke so softly that he came in and shut the door behind him. Persia purred and Marly wagged his tail and Yak-

Yak whistled a Christmas tune. Mrs. Claus sat motionless for a few minutes. Then her face brightened and her eyes smiled, and she turned to Dando with such a joyful ring in her voice that Marly and Persia instantly came out from their hiding places and stood on their hind legs, and Yak-Yak flew down and settled on her shoulder.

Are you apt at organization — or more apt at overlooking it? Your success with any project depends largely on how systematically you approach the problem. You've discovered that yourself, no doubt, if you've ever made a report to your club or a proposal to the P. T. A. When it comes to speaking your piece, you're in hot water the second you get on your feet unless you've planned your subject matter in the fullest, well-rounded fashion.

Adequate preparation is the secret of any successful public appearance. The next time it's your duty to speak to your group, use these handy guides to prepare your material. You'll gain in listener-interest, impact and assurance.

A Successful Appearance.

1. Do not attempt to cover too much ground. Weed out the extraneous points and put more emphasis on the important ones.
2. Think over your chosen points again and again. When you can talk about them from every angle, you are sure to be self-confident.
3. When you have gathered all your thoughts, write them down on paper.
4. Now, memorize your points and the order in which you wish to present them. Do not memorize actual sentences or you will sound like a little girl hesitating over her piece at the church social.
5. Practice over and over to yourself or to anyone who will listen.

Speaking a Pleasure.

When the time comes for you to present what you have to say, you will have no uncertainty about your subject matter. You'll find that your timidity has reached an all-time low, because you can recall your thoughts so easily that they will trip fluently off of your tongue.

Your obvious command of your subject will command the attention and respect of your audience. As soon as you become aware of the impression you are making and the responsiveness of the group, you will begin to enjoy yourself. Then, you'll actually

U.S. Aid Urged In Revolutions Against Soviet

OMAHA.—(AP)—A new y-elected congressman from Missouri proposes turning the tables on Russian communism by inciting and aiding revolutions in communist-dominated countries and eventually in Russia.

"We should make them realize that our enemy is communism—that we are out to destroy communism," republican Congressman-elect O. K. Armstrong told the Ad-Sell league Monday night.

"Need Time Table."

"We should have a definite time table to encourage revolutions in one communist country after another," he said. "I would start with China, then eastern Europe—the Ukraine and White Russia."

There is a strong potential underground in all these countries, he continued, but it has had to stay dormant because of lack of outside aid.

Armstrong said the Voice of America was doing an adequate job, but added that it doesn't go far enough toward aiding discontent among satellite nations.

"Imagine the effect if we were to tell Poland we were shipping in a load of machine guns—that's the kind of news they want to hear," he said. "We'd soon have the Russian army spread thin in eastern Europe."

It Just Goes To Show -- You Never Can Tell About A Day

HAD TO DUST OFF OUR thinking cap for the first few moments today--It looked from where we sat as though news would be as scarce as the proverbial hen's dentures--SO--we had a really sharp idea--Thought it might be expedient to set up a booth along the main thoroughfare and nab everyone coming and going--Such an extreme measure wasn't necessary, however, since we soon discovered that activity was not actually dead--just in a deep sleep.

WE RATHER SUSPECT THAT the populace is not to be caught napping, but is doing its Christmas shopping while the day is bright -- spending hay while the sun shines, so to speak--

Found a few people at home, though--enough to keep the social ball rolling for another day -- Heard some interesting things--among them the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Hardy had sold their home in Calvert Place to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Edwards -- The appendages of this announcement could go on--and on--but you already know, of course, that Mr. and Mrs. Hardy have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Stuart, and that Mr. and Mrs. Stuart are building a new home--and so on and such.

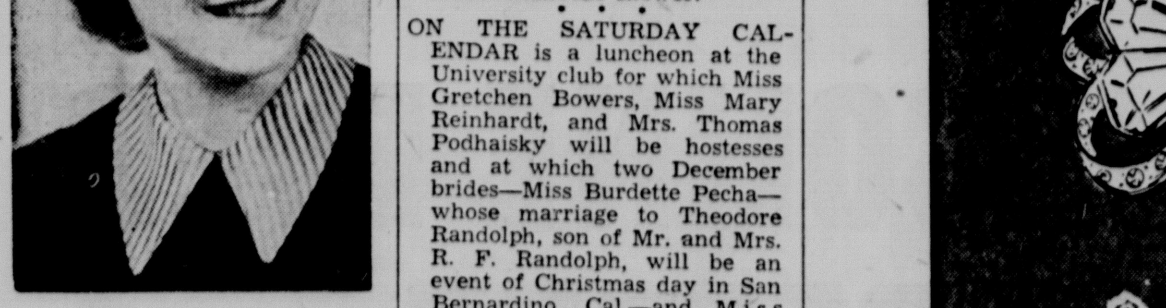

FOUND OUR MIND WANDERING off to foreign climes today --Wondered about Tim Morse and his current residence in London -- Learned that Mr. Morse, who is now with the London branch of the Chase bank, has found an apartment --no central heating, but otherwise pleasant--And, that he joined a group of Americans for Thanksgiving dinner at one of the London clubs.

WE ALSO HAVE BEEN GIVING some thought to Mr. and Mrs. Elton Fee and their family who are residing at Bangkok, Siam --Thought maybe the French Indo-China fracas might be a little too close for comfort--But up to now, we learned, all is well.

FOUND SOME NEW NEIGHBORS out on Mohawk street--3755--to be specific--They are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Melby and their three children, Tommy, aged eleven; Patty, eight and one-half -- and Kathy, who is four-going-on-five--The Melbys are lately of Boston, Mass., but have come to Lincoln to reside.

Speaking of new residents--Understand that Boston is to be represented again by Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Mansfield who are becoming residents of Lincoln -- Mr. Mansfield already has arrived, and Mrs. Mansfield will be coming soon.

COMPLIMENTING MR. AND MRS. Melby and Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Faulkner and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Spangler will be dinner hosts and hostesses on Thursday evening at the Lincoln Country

AP Poll Drops Huskers Into 17th Place

Sooners Roll Up Impressive Margin To Hold First Place

NEW YORK—(AP)—The solid Sooners of the University of Oklahoma Tuesday gained the most coveted college football distinction of all, No. 1 position in the final weekly Associated Press poll, and by an overwhelming majority.

Bud Praises Bobby, Nagle

... Fran 'Best Passer'

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Rambling Robert Reynolds, Nebraska's soph sensation, was the object of more praise by the nation's leading football coaches.

This time it was Coach Bud Wilkinson of the Oklahoma Sooners who did the honors. Of Reynolds, Wilkinson said:

"I don't see how he can improve, he's so good now."

Another Cornhusker coming in for praise from the Sooner coach was Fran Nagle. Wilkinson described the Cornhusker quarterback from West Lynn, Mass., as the "best I've seen this year—by a big margin."

"His selection of plays against us was fine and he is one of the best passers I've seen," he added. "Thank goodness he's a senior."

Nebraska, which during its Saturday game with the Sooners rocked Bud Wilkinson's powerhouse back on its heels during the first half only to fumble its hopes away in a 49-35 loss, apparently failed to impress sportscasters sufficiently to better itself in the ratings. The Huskers this week slipped a notch, ending up in 17th place.

Of the 319 sports writers and sportscasters who voted, 213 placed Oklahoma first. The result gave Bud Wilkinson's team, winner of 30 straight games, an impressive, 2,963 points.

ARMY CLOSEST.

Only Army, in second place, came at all close to the Sugar Bowl-bound Oklahomans. The Cadets, undefeated through 28 games, received 38 first-place votes for 2,380 points. Ten points are given for a first-place vote, nine for second, and so on.

Then, in order, came: 3-Texas; 4-Tennessee; 5-California; 6-Princeton; 7-Kentucky; 8-Michigan State; 9-Michigan; 10-Clemson.

In an Associated Press pre-season poll, Oklahoma was picked to finish sixth, by the nation's experts. Nine straight victories and another Big Seven championship changed that.

Notre Dame, No. 1 in three of the four previous years, almost unanimously was selected to finish on top. The Irish, however, had one of their poorest campaigns, losing three games and tying one. As a result, they failed to finish among the first 29 teams.

Oklahoma, which seeks its third straight Sugar Bowl triumph on New Year's day, has one game left, with Oklahoma A & M Saturday at Stillwater. The Aggies have lost five games while winning only four this year. Kentucky will oppose Oklahoma in the New Orleans "classics."

TEXANS IMPRESS.

Most impressive victory on the Sooners' slate is a 14 to 13 thriller over Texas at Dallas, Oct. 14. Other conquests include: Boston 28; Kansas State, 58-0; Iowa State, College, 28-0; Texas A & M, 34-20-7; Colorado, 27-18; Kansas, 33-13; Missouri, 41-7; and Nebraska, last Saturday, 49-35.

Army, too, has been a strong team all year. The Black Knights have rolled up eight straight victories and only the traditional tussle with Navy Saturday stands in the way of a perfect season.

Texas, the Southwest King and Cotton Bowl champ, has been on the upgrade since its loss to Oklahoma. The Longhorns, with five straight triumphs, plays Texas A & M Saturday, 1950 Dec. 9 and fourth-ranked Tennessee on Jan. 1.

By virtue of its 7 to 0 verdict over Kentucky, Tennessee made the big jump from ninth to fourth place. The Volunteers, meet Vanderbilt Saturday, while Princeton climbed a notch to fifth place after 7-7 standstill with Stanford, while Princeton climbed a notch to fifth place after 7-7 victory over Dartmouth. California, however, has a Rose Bowl date with ninth-ranked Michigan.

CATS TO 7TH.

Kentucky, after flitting with No. 1 position, dropped from third to seventh place. The Wildcats' regular season is completed. Although idle, moved up from 10th to eighth place, while its intra-state rival, Michigan, made the biggest advance of any team—from 26th to ninth place.

Clemson's unbeaten but one-sided Tigers, who meet Miami (Fla.) in the Orange Bowl, just made the top 10, moving up from 11th place.

A Letter To The Huskers

"HO HUM. The nation's No. 1 football team dispatched another opponent here Saturday."

Those bored words by Jack Murphy in the Daily Oklahoman Sunday summed up your inspired showing against Oklahoma. Clip those words, memorize them, never forget them as you rest through the winter months and await the start of spring practice. Gnash your teeth on them during your summer conditioning.

Get red-eyed over these words during the Curtis training camp. And by the time Oklahoma invades Memorial Stadium, we want to see you roaring mad.

Could anyone keep pace with this diet of football? Not to the Sooner press and fans, well-spoiled over 30 straight victories.

Oklahoma gridders, they'll tell you, are superhuman. They shave with blow totes and pare their nails with hedge clippers. They are men of asbestos and steel, immune to the fire and thunder of any foe. They are Paul Bunyans with a drawl.

Ho hum!

There wasn't a ho hum or a steady heart in that huge horseshoe of a stadium Saturday, Mr. Murphy.

OH MAYBE Sooner pride beat in high crescendo during those opening moments. The Superhumans led you Mortal Men, 14-0, and there was talk of new scoring records, maybe 70 points. How you came back was something out of Horatio Alger, an explosion that caused the staunchest Sooner supporters to rub their eyes in total disbelief.

There descended on that field of struggle a miracle in No. 12, a study in Scarlet brilliance named Bobby Reynolds, hoots ablaze and flowing over with the great clutch powers on which true All-Americans are spawned.

Just a Mortal Man was he, a soph against the Superhumans, yet he dared to prove that there were spots of tin plate in the armor of this vaunted foe. For one short quarter at least, he proved the idol had feet of clay.

For a short span you young Mortal Men, fired on by this sophomore sword of Damocles, slipped into the guise of the superhuman. You stormed the portals of the invincible, smashed savagely with every ounce you possessed and forced the foe into retreat.

Before a single Sooner could breathe an alibi, you led, 21-14 and we sensed the nervous unrest in the partisan stands. From our pressbox sitspot, we noticed a scribe named Murphy nibbling uneasily on his pencil.

Ho hum!

OH, SURE the Superhumans did come back and catch you Mortal Men on two quick third quarter touchdowns.

According to script, you Mortal Men were supposed to fold like fractured acornions. You kept plugging, though, piled up 35 points and had the Supermen on the run with a furious flurry of fourth quarter passes.

All the time, we noticed the "anonymous young men of Nebraska," as Murphy called you, were dangerous enough for Superchief Bud Wilkinson to leave his first string in the entire game.

If such a hard-wrought victory is boring to Murphy and the Oklahomans, may we notion that a defeat might well be the best thing that could happen to the Superhumans.

You simply don't yawn twice in the face of these fire-eating young Huskers.

Murphy, if they put the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder, a worse fate awaits you.

We have it straight from the Huskers . . . guys like Don Boll, Bob Mullen, Walt Spellman and Don Strasheim. Come next fall, according to these chaps, you'll be eating those words.

And what an unsavory, indigestible diet that will be!

For Oklahoma it was Tackle Jim Weatherall and Halfback Billy Vessels. It was Vessels' fine running that played havoc with the Husker defenders Saturday.

Missouri placed Quarterback Phil Klein and End Gene Ackerman while Kansas' fine offensive club added Wade Stinson, speedy halfback, and rugged tackle Mike McCormack to the honored list.

The two remaining players were Center Wayne Robinson of Minnesota and Guard Dick Patches of Colorado.

Banquet Will Honor Rockets

... Tuesday Evening

Nebraska Wesleyan Coach Roy Robertson will be principal speaker Tuesday night as the Northeast Businessmen's association honors Northeast's State Champion grid team at a banquet at Cotner Terrace.

The Rockets, who closed their 1950 team unbeaten to extend their victory string to 17 straight, were a unanimous choice for the coveted No. 1 spot in the final rankings.

Special guests will be Governor Val Peterson, Line Coach Ralph Fife of the University of Nebraska, Chancellor Carl Bracy of Nebraska Wesleyan and Superintendent of Schools Stephen Watkins.

CERTIFICATES AWARDED

A feature of the program will be the presentation to five Rocket footballers—Paul Fredstrom, Jim Cederdahl, Dick Grell, Wayne Taylor and Gene Thompson—of certificates honoring their placing on The Lincoln Newspapers' All-State teams.

George Lemon will be master of ceremonies at the affair, scheduled for 6:30 p. m.

No Bowl For Cornhuskers

Clemson To Orange Bowl; NU Would Reject Other Bid

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA football Cornhuskers, who hung up their togs after the end of the regular season Saturday, apparently aren't going to take them down again.

There had been talk about the Huskers for a major bowl bid, particularly the Orange bowl at Miami. But Clemson got the nod last night for that one.

At Jacksonville, Fla., Edgar Jones, selection chairman for the Gator bowl, said officials of that New Year's Day contest were considering Nebraska among several others.

However, University of Nebraska Athletic Director George (Potsy) Clark said Nebraska was not interested in being considered for the Jacksonville game.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The college football bowl picture was nearing completion today with the big four—the Rose, Sugar, Cotton and Orange Bowl games—among 14 already lined up.

At Pasadena, Calif., the New Year's day attraction will be California vs. Michigan in the Rose Bowl; in New Orleans' Sugar Bowl it will be Kentucky vs. Oklahoma; Dallas' Cotton Bowl will pit Tennessee against Texas, and in Miami's Orange Bowl the Miami Hurricanes will battle it out with Clemson's Tigers.

GATOR BOWL OPEN.

Five teams remain in the running for the Gator Bowl affair at Jacksonville, Fla.

California's Bears, the Pacific Coast conference kings who finished this season with nine victories and one tie, will be in the Rose Bowl for a third consecutive year and hope the third time will prove the charm. They bowed last January to Ohio State, 17-14, and in 1949 to Northwestern, 20-14. Michigan (5-3-1), the Big Ten champion, appeared in the Rose Bowl in 1948, routing USC 49-0. Oklahoma (9-0-0), like California last week but the game conditions were so awful I don't expect to get much out of the report," he said.

"This much I know," he added. "It is a typical Michigan team. It is tough, strong and hard hitting. Chuck Orman is the outstanding passer in the Big Ten. We will be up against a powerful opponent."

Wilkinson of Oklahoma said of the Sugar Bowl game: "We are very happy to be invited to the bowl and honored by the invitation."

Rival Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Kentucky expressed similar enthusiasm about the prospect of playing "such a fine team as Oklahoma. The boys also think it's a great honor. They indicated Oklahoma as their choice to play after we accepted the Sugar Bowl bid. They want to play the best team in the country."

The Cotton Bowl foes—Tennessee and Texas—were named last week. Neither has completed the regular season. Texas (7-1-0) has two more games—with Texas A & M on Thursday and with Louisiana State on Dec. 9. Tennessee (9-1-0) will wind up against Vanderbilt on Dec. 2. In its only setback this season, Texas was edged by powerful Oklahoma, 14-13. Tennessee's lone defeat was administered by Mississippi State, 7-0.

Here's how the bowl games shape up to date:

Sooners May Get Trouble

Oklahoma A & M Could Put Up Strong Struggle

By SKIPPER PATRICK.

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—The Oklahoma A. and M. Aggies, whom the Big Seven conference annually refuses as a member but always greets as an opponent, could possibly become the prize football killer of the decade Saturday.

Coach J. B. (Ears) Whitworth's Aggies entertain the Sugar bowl-bound Oklahoma university Sooners at Stillwater. It's a traditional game and, although outnumbered three-to-one, the Aggie crew can be expected to put up a strong fight.

The Oklahoma Sooners, who will play Kentucky in the Sugar Bowl, last met defeat at the hands of the Aggies in 1945 when All-America Aggie Bob Fenimore led a 47-0 rout.

JACKPOT GAME.

The thin-manpowered Aggies will be shooting for one of football's greatest jackpots—knocking off the nation's No. 1 eleven, a team that has won 30 consecutive games, two straight Sugar Bowl crowns and Three Big Seven championships in a row.

The Sooners will go into the game favorites by three or more touchdowns.

Oklahoma accepted the Sugar Bowl invitation Monday. It will be making its fifth bowl appearance Jan. 1, 1951. The Sooners of 1939, coached by Tom Stidham, lost to Tennessee, 19-0. In the Orange Bowl, the Sooners of 1947 directed by Jim Tatum, beat North Carolina State, 33-0. In the 1948 classic, the Sooners won 34-0.

Elsewhere around the Big Seven circuit:

Missouri, which closes its season against Miami in the Florida resort city Friday night, gained one player and lost one Monday.

End Bob Eubaker, who missed the Kansas game Thanksgiving day due to injuries, returned to the squad. Joe Woodson, junior tackle, was dropped from the squad because of training rule infractions.

The Kansas State Wildcats, who will meet Wichita university at Wichita Saturday, had a long scrimmage session. The Cats will be playing their last game under Coach Ralph Graham who resigned last week.

Big 7, Mo. Valley Officials Abandon Two-Minute Rule

KANSAS CITY—(INS)—The "two-minute rule" will be out of Big Seven and Missouri Valley conference basketball regulations this season.

This was decided at a meeting in Kansas City of the Mid-western Intercollegiate Officials association and conference coaches. As a result, teams will not be able to control the ball during the final two minutes of the game by getting both a free throw and possession of the ball out of bounds.

The clinic was led by Reeves Peters, executive secretary of the Big Seven conference, and Artie Eilers, Missouri Valley conference secretary.

EDEN RE-ELECTED.

Henry Eden was re-elected president of the Y.M.C.A. interchurch athletic council Monday night. Other council officials elected were Sig North, vice-president, and Fred Kissler, secretary. Buford Johnson, Y physical education head, is also the treasurer.

City Junior College (Garden City, Kas.).

Presidential Cup—College Park, Md.; Texas A & M vs. Georgia.

Pythian Bowl, Salisbury, N. C.; Appalachian vs. opponent to be named.

Little Bear Bowl, Pasadena, Calif.; Long Beach (Calif.) City College vs. Boise, Ida. Memorial Bowl, Jackson, Miss.; Kilauea (Tex.) Junior College vs. one of the teams competing in Dec. 1 Lions' Bowl.

Huskers Termed 'Ambassadors'

Gustavson Praises Players As Credit To University

Nebraska's football players were characterized by Gov. Val Peterson at the annual Cornhusker football banquet Monday night as "fine ambassadors for the state of Nebraska."

Gov. Peterson's words were echoed by Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, who noted that "on football day in Lincoln you'll find automobiles from every Nebraska county in the parking lots. This solid support for the university is deeply appreciated," he said.

He congratulated the players on their fine season and for "reflecting credit on the great institution of which they were representatives."

The chancellor, substituting for Pittsburgh Athletic Director Tom Hamilton, who was unable to reach Lincoln because of eastern storms, spoke up in favor of reasonable assistance for athletes.

LONG HOURS

"The boys who work long hours to give us fine entertainment on Saturday afternoon should be worthy of the opportunity to attend a university without having to worry where their three meals a day are going to come from," he said.

He was critical, however, of under-the-table payments to athletes. The chancellor also deplored the treatment sometimes afforded coaches.

"One of the most tragic things that has happened in recent days in athletics is that Coach Bernie Bierman of Minnesota could not stand one losing season. I sincerely hope," he went on, "that we at Nebraska are not fair weather friends."

"Let's stay behind Bill, win, lose or draw. While we like to win, let us believe in something greater than to be continuously a winner."

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

He expressed his appreciation of not only the coaching staff but the athletic board, the press, radio and others for the part they played in the Huskers' season.

Coach Glassford praised his team and staff. The team's courage and desire to win marked them, as the finest he had ever had the privilege of working with, he said. His coaching staff, he stated, is the finest in the country, and he expressed hope that its members would continue to remain as his aids.

Seniors on the 1950 squad were presented with wrist watches by the University club.

Husker prospects for the coming season received a blow with the announcement that Soph Tackle Don J. Ullrich may be called into the Marine corps in mid-December. Added to that was the fact that Bob Mullen, senior tackle, will probably graduate in the spring, thus passing up his remaining year of eligibility.

Garland Cagers Hit Pleasant Dale In Opener, 45-37

Garland's cagers opened their 1950-51 cag season last week with a 45-37 victory over Pleasant Dale. Darril Pohlman and Loren Beckmann, both juniors, led the winners with 19 and 18 points, respectively.

Coach Orville Schmieding has five lettermen back for this year's campaign, although last year's star performers were lost through graduation. The five vets are Bob Schulz, Cliff Hromas, Junior Schaefer, Pohlman and Beckmann.

Others showing promise are Don Mattheis, Louis Strick, Gerald Kries, Eldon Schulz, Paul Foster and Jim Hastermann. The schedule:

Nov. 21, Pleasant Dale, 28. Dwight, 12. Malmgren, 8. Thayer, 12 at Dorchester, 19 open.

Bosox Cooking Up New Deal ... Boudreau Acquired

By BILL KING.

BOSTON—(AP)—With deposed Cleveland Player-Manager Lou Boudreau in their fold and millionaire Tom Yawkey's check-book wide open, the Boston Red Sox have high hopes of swinging another of their breath-taking baseball deals during next week's major leagues meetings at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The addition of Boudreau, obtained as a free agent, makes shortstop Vern (Junior) Stephens expendable as trade-bait for much needed pitching strength.

Both General Manager Joe Cronin and Steve O'Neill, his bench pilot, have expressed keen interest in such seasoned pitchers as the Philadelphia Athletics' Lou Brissie and the St. Louis Browns' Ned Garver.

"Now that we have Boudreau, we can afford to give up a regular infielder to get pitchers," O'Neill explained by telephone from his Cleveland home. "As soon as I get to St. Petersburg, I'll find out what pitchers are on the market. Right now we have no deals on the fire."

Stephens' five-figure salary, however, may be a stumbling block in negotiations with the Athletics or Browns. And it may be necessary to approach such wealthier clubs as the Indians and Detroit Tigers, who also have pitchers the Red Sox covet.

But dickering with the Indians or Tigers could easily result in just about the most sensational deal in many years, the departure of slugger Ted Williams from the Red Sox.

Despite his $125,000 salary, it is entirely possible, now that their Billy Goodman has annexed the American league batting title, that the Red Sox could be tempted to surrender their terrific gate attraction.

But they would demand, at the very least, a pair of topflight pitchers or such a crack battery as Cleveland's right-hander Bob Lemon and Catcher Jim Hegan.

Boudreau, who practically started in baseball under O'Neill at Buffalo back in 1939, passed up offers from the New York Yankees, Washington Senators, Chicago White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates, to cast his lot with the Red Sox. The Chicago salary bid was said to be $45,000.

"Where and when I will play for the Red Sox is up to Manager O'Neill," Boudreau said.

Stephens, wintering in Long Beach, Calif., said he knew nothing about his baseball future. "I've read about rumors that I might go to Cleveland or Washington but I have not been told by Steve O'Neill that I will be traded," Stephens explained.

Tarzan Faces Dusek Grudge ... Fairgrounds Tonight

Wladeck "Tarzan" Kawalski, the handsome man of steel, carries his campaign against the rough and tough Duseks another notch at the fairgrounds arena tonight.

This time Tarzan, 280-pound giant who has seen duty in the movies, will wrestle Joe Dusek.

He defeated Ernie Dusek last week after a highly-contested decision by Joe Krejci.

Joe is anxious to revenge his brother's defeat.

"I am tired of these pretty boys of the ring," growled Joe. "They always get the breaks, just as Tarzan did against Ernie last week."

In another feature match, two ex-gridders, Mike DiBiase of Nebraska and Bob Giegel of Iowa, will trade holds.

Richard Dusek, a nephew of the Omaha Duseks, meets Denver Jack Conley in the preliminary.

Comoter Adam Krieger has installed extra police protection for Tarzan against the Duseks. Ernie will be at ringside, rooting for his brother and ready to step in if he gets sufficiently aroused.

Dana's Thomsen Is State College Scoring Leader

OMAHA.—(INS)—Mark Thomsen of Dana college, notching 93 points, was the top scorer among Nebraska's small school football stars this year.

Luther college's Hyspe was runner-up with 57, followed closely by Marlin Zobel of Concordia with 56 and Wes Hultquist of Nebraska Wesleyan with 55.

Thomsen topped the touchdown parade with 13 and shared to point-after honors with Jim Harkrader of Doane. Each kicked 15 extra points.

Dana's Thomsen Is State College Scoring Leader

OMAHA.—(INS)—Mark Thomsen of Dana college, notching 93 points, was the top scorer among Nebraska's small school football stars this year.

Luther college's Hyspe was runner-up with 57, followed closely by Marlin Zobel of Concordia with 56 and Wes Hultquist of Nebraska Wesleyan with 55.

Thomsen topped the touchdown parade with 13 and shared to point-after honors with Jim Harkrader of Doane. Each kicked 15 extra points.

Tarzan Faces Dusek Grudge ... Fairgrounds Tonight

Wladeck "Tarzan" Kawalski, the handsome man of steel, carries his campaign against the rough and tough Duseks another notch at the fairgrounds arena tonight.

This time Tarzan, 280-pound giant who has seen duty in the movies, will wrestle Joe Dusek.

He defeated Ernie Dusek last week after a highly-contested decision by Joe Krejci.

Joe is anxious to revenge his brother's defeat.

"I am tired of these pretty boys of the ring," growled Joe. "They always get the breaks, just as Tarzan did against Ernie last week."

In another feature match, two ex-gridders, Mike DiBiase of Nebraska and Bob Giegel of Iowa, will trade holds.

Richard Dusek, a nephew of the Omaha Duseks, meets Denver Jack Conley in the preliminary.

Comoter Adam Krieger has installed extra police protection for Tarzan against the Duseks. Ernie will be at ringside, rooting for his brother and ready to step in if he gets sufficiently aroused.

McCrady Quits K. State Post ... AS ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

MANHATTAN, Kas.—(AP)—Kansas State college, a longtime door-mat in major college football, today was seeking its 23rd head coach and a new athletic director.

Ralph Graham, one-time Kansas State star, resigned last Wednesday after three years as head coach. He previously had served as assistant to A. N. (Bo) McMillin at Indiana and as head coach at Wichita university.

Thurlo McCrady, who came to Kansas State in March of 1947, Monday resigned as athletic director.

Thus, K-State is after its seventh head coach since Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, now of California U., tutored a Big Seven conference team to the championship here in 1934. The 1951 coach will be the sixth since 1944.

McCrady came to Kansas State from Brookings, S. D., where he had served as athletic director and head football coach at South Dakota State for six years. Previously he had directed and coached at Hastings (Neb.) college.

McCrady indicated he would remain at Kansas State "for the present at least" as a member of the physical education department. Graham said he was retiring from the coaching profession because of ill health.

Any number of names have been mentioned in connection with the coaching job, although none came from official channels. High on the rumor list are Bowden Wyatt of Wyoming, Volney Ashford of Missouri Valley, Fran Welch of Emporia (Kas.) State, and Wilbur Moore, former Minnesota star now serving as backfield coach of the professional Washington Redskins.

Overhauling THE NEWS

BY WALLY DeBROWN

We always understood that folks down Texas way didn't mind a little noise. In fact, there were rumors that the only quiet Texan was a deceased one. But now comes a report of a restaurant in Houston with a juke box that contains a blank record. For a nickel you can play the blank record and get three minutes of quiet deep in the heart of Texas.

This sounds like an idea that ought to go like wildfire. As the poet says, "The world is too much with us." What we all need is a little more quiet time to think, plan, dream... or just be quiet. Anybody got five nickels for a quarter?

Can anyone remember that before the football season opened this fall you could get a bet anywhere, for any amount, that Nebraska wouldn't win four games? Our most sincere congratulations to the squad and coaching staff for a job well done. Clemson goes to the Orange Bowl.

A newspaper headline reads: "Laundry Owner Sues Unions for Damages." It's probably not the first union suit he's handled. We handle the new Studebaker. And brother it's a beauty. Selection Of Jury Begins Sundahl Trial

Insanity Plea
Is Entered For
Norfolk Father

COLUMBUS, Neb.—(AP)—A jury was selected today to try Roland Dean Sundahl for the hatchet slaying of a pretty carhop. Sundahl yesterday pleaded innocent by reason of "insanity or mental derangement" to two counts of first degree murder in the death of the girl, 16-year-old Bonnie Lou Merrill, of Silver Creek. Her body was found Sept. 2 at Lake Babcock near Columbus. Sundahl, 29-year-old father of two from Norfolk, entered his plea at an arraignment which preceded the start of trial in District court. One count charged first degree murder with a hatchet or hand axe in "the perpetration of or an attempt to perpetrate a rape." The other count charged first degree murder with a hatchet or hand axe.

Judge Robert D. Flory overruled attempts by Sundahl's defense for a change of venue and a continuance. Defense attorneys Louis Lightner and Wilbur Johnson based their request for a change of venue on grounds that a letter published in the "letters to the editor" column in The Columbus Daily Telegram was "prejudicial" and that it made a public demand for a death penalty in the case. Judge Flory said the letter raised a "serious question" and that publication of the letter on the eve of the trial "almost was contempt of court." However, he overruled the motion for a change of venue.

The defense counsel then asked that the case be continued to the next term of court to give attorneys an opportunity "to make a showing of prejudice." Judge Flory also denied that request, but said any juror would be excused who had read the letter.

Events Prior To Shooting Are Related

By Cousin Of
Both Defendant
And Slain Man

BROKEN BOW, Neb.—(AP)—A cousin of both the defendant and the slain man has appeared as a defense witness in the trial of Fred Brooks.

The witness is Ozro Gray of Benkelman. He drove Gerald Oliver Henderson, Scottsbluff, to the Merna roadside where he was slain July 2. Brooks, of Colby, Kas., is charged with first degree murder in Henderson's slaying.

Gray said that the day before the shooting both the Brooks and Henderson families were in an Alliance trailer camp. They had planned to go to a show or a dance until Brooks began hooking up his trailer and prepared to drive to Broken Bow.

Then, said Gray, the Hendersons insisted that they go to Broken Bow, too.

Gray told the jury that Henderson's wife declared "this has been on Boot's (Gerald) mind for five years and it's going to be settled tonight, one way or the other."

Gray said he was driving the car in which the Hendersons were riding. He said they opened cans of beer in the car and that Gerald Henderson would tromp on his (Gray's) foot to try to make him go faster.

At Dunning, the witness related, they bought some firecrackers and the Hendersons threw them at passing cars from their own.

Brooks himself was also on the witness stand Monday. He declared that "I never did say I'll kill him (Henderson)."

Brooks, who stands just a little over five feet, told the jury that "I was afraid of anyone that wanted to fight."

He said he had a wrist broken at various times and the grip of his right hand was not normal. He demonstrated to the jurors by grasping the hands of each over a defense objection.

At Alliance, the day before the shooting, he said both Henderson and the latter's brother, Bill, had jumped on him and made him drink part of a can of beer.

Beatrice Quartets Trade Songs Here

$6 Million Road Funds To Nebraska

State Must Match
Money On A Dollar
For Dollar Basis

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Nebraska will get a $6,486,420 share of $400,000,000 in federal government aid to states and territories for road building.

The aid money split was announced last night. Of Nebraska's share, $3,486,968 is for major highways, $2,435,185 for secondary roads, and $616,270 for urban highways.

Shares were awarded by the public roads bureau on the basis of area, population and road mileage. The money constituted 80 per cent of $50,000,000 federal aid funds for highways voted by congress Sept. 7 for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Tentative figures from the 1950 population census were used in the division.

The roads bureau announced the other $100,000,000 provided by congress will be divided up when final census figures are available on city and rural populations.

States must match the federal funds dollar for dollar in most instances. State highway departments themselves select the projects to be built, prepare plans, award contracts and supervise construction, subject to federal approval.

The bureau said the federal funds must be used by June 30, 1954.

About 45 per cent is to be spent on the federal-aid highway system (major highways), 30 per cent on secondary roads, and 25 per cent on urban highways.
